Thieves Take Nearly $400 From Co-Op Oil

Local police are still seeking the bandit — or bandits — who broke into the Ord Co-Op Oil Co, Friday night and stole al-most $400.

"We have some leads," Assistant Police Chief John Boettcher said Wednesday morning. He explained that fingerprints were found on a change box handled by the thief, or thieves, but that a check must be made to determine if they belong to Co-Operations of the semicone of the semicone employees or to someone else. The robbery occurred some-time between 8:30 and 9:40 Friday night, Boettcher said. He ported that Russell Rose, a Co-Op employee, thought he heard something in the company's main office when he went to the station to get gas Friday night after closing hours. He checked and found that a vertical safe had been broken into. Further investigation revealed Further investigation revealed that almost $400 was missing, Boettcher said.

Benda, Markley, French File for Political Office

Candidates may be scarce for most of the local political offices that will be voted on this spring, but there's one Valley County race that's starting to draw a crowd. It's the 3rd District position on the County Board of Supervisors.

Henry / Benda filed for the position during the past week, bringing to three the number of candidates seeking that post.

It's the only one in the county where such a situation exists. Earlier filings had been made by Duane Carson and the incumbent, Leon Klanecky. Like Carson and Klanecky, Benda filed as a Republican.

Two other filings of significance were made during the past week as Dr. Muray Markley announced he would seek a spot on the District 5 Board of Education and Bill French filed for reelection as mayor Ord.

Dr. Markley's entrance means that people in the Ord district will have at least one choice to make when they vote for school board members, since two spots are up for grabs and there are now three candidates. The other office-seekers are Drs. Dale Karre and Otis Miller, They are present board members whose terms are expiring terms are expiring.

French is the first person to file for mayor.

Other filings were made during the past week by Edmund Huffman and Carol Lutz, They wish to serve as delegates to the wish to serve as delegates to the county's Democratic convention.

DAVE MARTIN Reports

The Department of Agriculture in its February Livestock and Meat Report said that total imports of beef last year amounted to 1,084.1 million pounds (product weight). This was only 2.7 million pounds under the quota set by law and the highest in history.

Projections by the Department of Agriculture had estimated 1,035 million pounds, but imports in the final quarter greatly exceeded estimates.

The quota for 1970 is approximately 999 million pounds, but imports of beef are allowed to go to 110 percent of the quota. That means this country may import 1,098.7 million pounds. This is almost 12 million pounds over 1969.

Imports in 1969 were 83 million pounds over 1968, 189 million pounds over 1968, 189 million pounds more than 1967, 260 million pounds higher than 1966, 470 million pounds over 1965, and 362 million pounds higher than the 1959-1963 average of 722 million pounds.

This continued increase in foreign beef imports, which comeign beef imports, which compete with our American ranchers and feeders, must be curtailed. I introduced legislation once again over a year ago to curtail beef imports.

HEW Appropriations The House recently passed for the second time the Health, Ed-ucation and Welfare appropria-tions bill. The first one was veto-

After the veto the House Appropriations Committee recommended a $19.4 billion bill, which was only $300 million less than the original one. The second bill was not only over President Nixon's budget, but it again failed to give the executive branch of government the power to spend the funds as it sees fit.

Both the original and the second bill make mandatory the spending of certain funds between now and June 30. This is tween now and June 30. This is one of the features to which President Nixon objected and to which I also object, as funds cannot be spent in a judicial manner and without waste during the next four months.

If you recognized the photo of the pretty girl with wind-blown blonde tresses on the cover of the Magazne of the Midlands this week — or were curious enough to turn to page 16 to learn her identity — then you read, as I did, the article featuring Sally Zikmund, granddaughter of Mrs. Ethel Zikmund of Ord.

The cover is a first by the way — the first time both a father and daughter have ever been featured on the cover of the Midlands. Sally's dad was there Sept. 18 1966 in a story of his success at Kearwas there Sept. 18 1966 in a story of his success at Kearney State College. Yes Sally is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Zikmund. The popular KSC head football coach and his football coach and his family have many friends and relatives in the Ord community.

Sally was featured as having that All-America college look — beautiful blonde hair that flies in the breeze. The attractive cover girl is one of nine KSC cheerleaders.

nine KSC cheerleaders.

O
Speaking of cheerleaders, this seems an opportune time to boast that Ord's own Ann Banks is also one of those nine cheerleaders. Correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't Ann head cheerleader at Kearney State College? She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, who after calling Ord their home for many years, moved recently to Florissant, Mo.

'Day of Prayer' Services Planned In Area on Mar. 6

Women from various denominations in this area will join with others around the world on Mar. 6 to pray for "imagination and courage to witness in new forms of mission on every continent."

The occasion is the annual World Day of Prayer, in which women from 130 lands will participate. The day was started here cipate. The day was started here in the United States in 1887 and, according to Rev. Clarence Camp-bell, "has become truly world-wide."

Mr. Campbell is the minister of the United Methodist Church Mr. Campbell is the minister of the United Methodist Church in Ord, whose members will participate in 2:30 p.m. services at their home building. Other cooperating congregations are the Bethany Lutheran, Bethel Baptist, First Presbyterian, and Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic. All are based in Ord.

Services will also be held at the United Methodist building in Scotia, beginning at 2 p.m. Cooperating in that effort will be members of the Seventh Day Baptist Church at North Loup Baptist Church at North Loup, Salem, and Scotia.

Services are also being planned at Arcadia.

In explaining the World Day of Prayer, Mr. Campbell said:

"This day is set aside each year as the time when people come together across all the boundaries that separate them to pray for the world and its needs, to express our oneness in Christ and our commitment to needs, to express our oneness in Christ and our commitment to Him, and to share in an offering for furthering Christ's mission in the world."

The 1970 service was planned by women from five countings

by women from five countires around the scriptural theme, "Everyone helps his neighbor, and says to his brother, 'Take courage!" as found in Isaiah 41,

Litchfield Takes D Title at Scotia As Wheeler Central Arcadia GODE Powerful Litchfield, without a senior in its starting lineup, turned back the best challenges this area's Class D teams could offer last weekend as it advanced to within one step of the state rournament. The Trojans were easily the class of last week's district tournament at Scotia, hitting better than 50 percent of their field goal tries in three straight victories. After opening the meet with an 83-44 triumph over Greeley, they turned back a spirited assault by Wheeler Central, 71-61, and then wallopped Arcadia, 78-50. The finals at Scotia proved to be anti-climactic after two pulsating semifinal games the night before. In those semifinal contests Litchfield trailed most of the way before coming on strong in the fourth quarter to whip Wheeler Central, and Arcadia performed well in the clutch to upset second-seeded Wolbach, 55-51.

In the championship contest, however, Arcadia proved no match for the smooth - working Trojans as it lost to them for the third time in as many meetings third time in as many meetings this year.

Junfor Duo Pace Champs

The two victories gave Litchfield an 18-2 record to carry into its regional playoff with Overton.

A pair of excellent big men, 6-3 juniors John Bacus and Dave Rasmussen, were the keys to Litchfield's extraordinary success. Their fine inside play meant that they and their termmates rarely had to shoot from outside, and that in turn meant that their chances of posting a good field-goal percentage were much better than their opponents.

good field-goal percentage were much better than their opponents.

In addition, Bacus and Rasmussen dominated the backboards as they plucked off 26 rebounds in both the tourney semifinals and finals. In the championship contest the Trojans were so domineering in this department that Arcadia could get but four offensive rebounds (two in each half).

Arcadia, which had received a fine all-around effort in the semifinals when it beat Wolbach, reverted to pretty much of a twoman outfit in the finals. Tim Hurlburt scored 28 points and Paul Dietz 12 as they collected 40 of their team's 50 points. They were the only Huskies to score in the first half, which ended with Litchfield in front, 30-22.

Press Bothers Huskies

Hurlburt hit five of his first six shots and helped Arcadia get out to an 18-12 lead as the first quarter ended. But the Huskies could score but four points in the second period as the team from southwest Sherman County outguined them, 18-4.

In the third period the Trojans slapped on a full-court press, and that gave Arcadia even more problems. The Huskies did hit better themselves that quarter, but their repeated turnovers and poor defense enabled Litchfield to score a whopping 27 points. Thus, by the time the third period ended, Arcadia was out of it as Litchfield led by a 57-44 score.

Thus, by the time the third period ended, Arcadia was out of it as Litchfield led by a 57-44 score. Fouls hurt Arcadia as the club's top play-maker, Dennis Ohme, collected three in the early going and sat out most of the second quarter when his team surrendered the lead. For the game the Huskies were guilty of 24 infractions compared to only 15 for Litchfield. Ohme eventually fouled out, and three of his teammates finished with four violations apiece.

Litchfield was quite cold on free throws in the first period when Arcadia took its lead, but when Arcadia took its lead, but toward the end of the second period the Trojans began to hit from the charity line. That's when they really started to put some distance between themselves and their foe.

sive work on Wolbach's touted Steve Grossart.

After letting Grossart hit his first four shots of the game, Murray tightened the noose and limited him to eight points the rest of the way. Consequently, Grossart scored a total of 16 after getting 32 in his team's opening-round victory over Elba. His percentage was much below normal too, as he hit only seven of 21 attempts.

In addition to playing good defense, Murray also scored well for the Huskies, as he got 11 points. Dietz was the leader with 15, followed by Hurlburt with 14.

Grossart's 16 was high for Wolbach, but the man who had the fans oolning and aahing was 5-3 sophomore Robert Allen, After being blanked the first half, Allen hit six of six after intermission — all of them high, arching shots from far out.

Other statistics were as close as the score. Each team shot 39 times, with Arcadia hitting 20 and Wolbach 21. In rebounds Arcadia led, 34-31. Ed Gogan did a masterful job for the Huskies in this department, grabbing off 13 for the fourth straight game.

Wheeler Press Effective

The other semifinal contest was also a thriller, with the 10-point final margin not really indicative of the game.

Litchfield, which was to use the full-court press so effectively the following night against Arcadia, was itself a press victim against Wheeler Central. The short but aggressive Broncos pressed the entire first half, and nine times they forced turnovers before Litchfield could get the ball down court.

The Trojans, however, usually scored when they did get the ball

Litchfield could get the ball down court.

The Trojans, however, usually scored when they did get the ball down, as Bacus and Rasmussen performed admirably on their offensive boards.

As a result, even though Wheeler got off to a surprising 12-3 lead, Litchfield came back and made it close throughout the rest of the half. The first quarter ended in a tie, 19-19, and Wheeler held a 37-34 advantage at intermission. In the third period Litchfield once more made up its deficit, and that period ended with the two clubs again deadlocked—this time at 51-51.

Chants Succumb by One In Final Regular Contest

Youth and experience each had its place Friday night as the Ord Chanticleers came within a point of winning their second straight game over a physically superior foe. They failed, how-ever, as Ainsworth scored on a desperation shot with time running out.

The loss, by a 65-64 score in overtime, meant that the Chants closed their regular season with a 5-13 record. Greg Martin, a senior who has refused to get lost in the transition to a youth dominated clubthat Coach Ken Trubey has made during the latter half of the season, scored five points in the overtime and gave his team a one-point lead with just seconds to go. cnds to go.

Then, as Ainsworth brought the ball downcourt, Darrell

Farmer stole it for Ord and it looked for an instant as if the Chants were going to have a their 105 mile trip home. But as Farmer tried to pass the ball off to a teammate, it was intercepted.
Don Shiffermiller dribbled

Don Shiffermiller dribbled briefly, just long enough to get the ball across mid-court, and then fired in a desperate attempt to beat the final buzzer. He did, and the ball fell through to give the Bulldogs their 65-64 triumph.

The score had been tied at the end of regulation time, 57-57. Ord got five of its seven overtime points on free throws, as Martin hit three-for-three and sophomore Tom Klanecky, a member of the youth brigade, hit two-for-two. Martin's field goal accounted for the other two points.

A whopping total of 56 fouls were called in the game, 27 against Ord and 29 against Ainsworth. Both teams played the overtime without their leading scorers, as Duane Kovarik went to the bench in the fourth quarter after scoring 19 points for ter after scoring 19 points for Ord and Rich Newton exited af-ter scoring 17 for Ainsworth.

Both boys had outstanding nights at the free-throw line as Kovarik hit 9 of 11 and New-ton 11 of 15.

Kovarik, a senior like Martin, also hit 5 of 12 field goal tries for one of his best performances of the year.

Klanecky, who was playing only his third game with the varsity, scored 17 points to rank second to Kovarik. He also shot well from both the field and the free-throw line, hitting 5 of 11 from the former and 7 of 9 from the latter. Surprisingly, he was his team's rebound leader too with nine.

Another surprise in the game was the return to action of Bill Miller. A 5-11 senior who had been the team's second leading scorer through the first six games of the season, Miller contracted a severe case of enceph. tracted a severe case of encephalitis late in January and little more than a month ago was fighting for his life. It had been assumed that he would not play any more this season, but his father—Dr. Otis Miller—said he

Miller played part of the third and fourth quarters, and all of the overtime.

St. Paul's hopes came acropper early in the fourth quarter when two starters fouled out just 44 seconds apart. With 6:54 to go, Doug Bruce scored his 11th and 12th points of the game, But 32 seconds later he fouled out, and less than a minute later Ken Wozniak was also asked to leave.

At the time of Bruce's departure, Albion led by only 49-46. But before St. Paul could score agin the tally had mounted to 55-46.

Nelson Leads Swing Nelson and Sharp with their height were just too much for St. Paul to handle. The two 6-5 performers repeatedly got up in the air so high to launch their jump shots that the Wildcats could do-nothing but paw air or elbows. Each of the big boys scored nine field goals, and Nelson hit 10 of 14 free throws for a total of 28 points. Sharp was 1-for-5 at the line and finished with 19 points.

St. Paul's performance was all the more remarkable because of its 5-13 season record.

Valentine, the tourney favorite, was not particularly impressive in its win over vastly improved O'Neill. The shorter Eagles, who had only a 4-13 season record, played conservatively but well and trailed by just six points enand traited by just six points entering the fourth quarter. Their foe spurted for 26 points that period, however, making the final 18-point difference look much more decisive than the game really was.

first round.

Loup City did do a good job in the first half, which ended with Broken Bow ahead, 32-25. But in the last half the Raiders tried to play run-and-shoot, and that type of basketball is the kind Broken Bow loves. In less than five min-utes of the third quarter, the In-

try this week — and they hope next — to make this a truly great athletic year for Sargent High

With a conference football championship and a district basketball title under their belts, the ketball title under their belts, the Bulldogs have already had a good year. But they'd like to add some frosting by knocking off Nebraska's defending Class C basketball champion, Hastings St. Cecilia, and making a trip to the 1970 state tournament themselves.

St. Cecilia won the District 12 Championship last week at Grand Island while Sargent was winning the District 11 crown here in the District 11 crown here in Ord, They were to play this week, probably at Kearney, to decide who will get the trip to

with the superlative Cooper leading the way, Sargent picked apart a fine Burwell team in the district championship contest Saturday night. An overflow crowd packed the Ord gymnasium for the event as both communities backed their teams well.

The final score in the title contest was 61-44. Sargent had gained the finals with a 63-54 revenge victory over Ansley, which earlier had given the Bulldogs their only defeat of the year, while Burwell had made the championship bout with a thrilling 76-72 overtime victory against upstart Arnold.

upstart Arnold.
Sargent was seeded first in the tournament and Burwell second, while neither Ansley nor Arnold had been seeded.

In the championship contest the Bulldogs disproved any notion that they're a one-man team. Althat they re a one-main team. Although Cooper again topped the scoring with 21 points, he had plenty of help as Bob Anderson and Cliff Hanna each tallied 14.

In three tournament games Cooper averaged over 28 points a contest.

Burwell gave the Bulldogs a battle for nearly three quarters Saturday, but the one that counted was all Sargent.

After trailing 28-26 at halftime,
Sargent got the jump after intermission and scored five straight points to take a 31-28 lead. After some more sparring the Rulldogs some more sparring the Bulldogs built it to 39-33 before Burwell came back to make it 39-36. That was the last gasp for the

That was the last gasp for the Longhorns, however, as baskets by Hanna and Cooper gave the Bulldogs a six-point margin going into the last period. Playing catchup, Burwell was out of its realm and Sargent took advantage. The Bulldogs scored 19 points — most of them on free throws and layups as the pressing Burwell defenders were caught out of position.

Burwell tried to go to its leader, Don Snyder, when it started falling behind. But Snyder's shooting eye was not as sharp as it had been two nights before when he scored 35 points — 19 of them in the fourth quarter and overtime — to lead his team past Arnold. In the Sargent contest Snyder finished with 14, while Steve Burke had 13 and Tom Svoboda 10.

The victory was the second for Sargent this year over the Longhorns. The Bulldogs won in their second game of the year, 54-46. That contest was played at Sargent Ansley also gave the Bulldogs a good game for three quarters in the semifinal contest. In fact, it was tied at the end of the third period, 48-48.

But again it was all Sargent in the fourth, as the Bulldogs out-scored their foe, 15-6.

Junior High Five Closes Season With 70-31 Defeat at Loup City

The story stated that "a new high in futility was reached" when Ord could score but four points in the first half.

Actually, that four points was part of the strategy as the Chicks were stalling in an effort to not the score down. Thus, there was nothing futile about Ord only scoring four points, although the stall itself was somewhat futile since Minden rang up 22 points

Vacation Fun
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beran returned from a trip to Oklahoma and Texas where they visited relatives and friends. In Prague, Okla, they visited a cousin, the George Hrdys, and an aunt, Mrs. Joe Hrdy. From Prague they drove to Harlingen, Tex., to spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. Loren Good. While in Texas they did some sightseeing which took them to Brownsville, the beach at San Benito, and Baca-Chico where the men fished off the jetties while the ladies gathered seashells. They also drove to Rynosa and took a bus tour to Metamorus, both in Old

In San Benito, Tex., they attended the Nebraska picnic sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Harley Crouch of Ord. One hundred and eight Nebraskans were present including 12 from Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Phelps and children called on Mrs. Stella Kerr at her Ord home last Thursday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Palser and Mrs. Esther Rowe were also callers, last week, while in Ord on business.

Since the funeral of her moth-Mrs. Stella Kerr has been in Hastings staying with a son, John Kerr, and family. She plans to return to Ord later this week.

Saturday evening lunch guests of Anna Visek were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kluna, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Hiett and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Warner in the Warner home.

Aged North Loup Woman, Katie Palser, Dies at Ord After Lengthy Illness

Final services for Mrs. Katie Palser were conducted Friday at the United Methodist Church in North Loup.

Mrs. Palser, an 86-year-old native of the Davis Creek community, died Feb. 25 at the Valley County Hospital. She had been severely handicapped since having suffered a stroke nearly six years ago, and her life since that time had been spent in the hospital at Ord.

Rev. Leonard Clark officiated at the 2 p.m. services. The scripture was read by Rev. Duane Palser, and Mrs. Irma Keown was the organist. She accompanied Mrs. Lou Hudson and Mrs. Esther Johnson, who sang as a duet, "How Great Thou Art" and "That Will Be Glory."

Interment was in the Davis Creek Cemetery near North Loup, Pallbearers were Dean Palser, Wesley Rowe, Gene Palser, John Kerr, Dennis Palser, and Bill Palser. Honorary pallbearers were Airman Third Class Dale Palser, Steven Palser, Darrel Palser, and Gary Rowe. Hastings-Pearson Mortuary had charge of arrangements, Katie Blanche Johnson, young-est child of Robert and Mary (Watson) Johnson, was born July 2, 1883. As a child she shared many of the hardships of that era, but her memories of being part of a large family and the sod schoolhouse where church was also held each week were a delight to her long list of re-memberances.

She obtained her education at the Davis Creek School, held a teacher's certificate, and taught school one year in Mira Valley. On Mar. 18, 1903, she and John Palser were united in marriage at the home of her parents. The couple set up housekeeping first in a two-room sod house and later built a frame house near the sod dwelling.

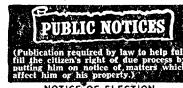

Since the death of her husband in 1949, Mrs. Palser had made her home with a daughter, Stella, at North Loup with brief visits to the homes of other family members until the time of her illness. Immediate survivors include seven of her 11 children: Mrs.

Stella Kerr of North Loup, Mrs. Esther Rowe of Grand Island, Mrs. Eva Phelps of Lincoln, Harold Palser of Crook, Colo., Paul Palser of Sedgwick, Colo., Arthur Palser of Central City, and Richard Palser of Aurora, Colo. One brother, Earnest Johnson of North Loup, also survives. Mrs. Palser was preceded in death by her husband, three sons, one daughter, three grandchildren, and two great-granddaughters

"State government doesn't have to cost as much as it does, and spiralling costs are not the result of demands by the peo-ple for more services," Batchelder said in announcing that he would run. Instead, he said, spiralling costs are the result "of politicians making concessions to government itself and to spe-cial-interest groups."

The Tiemann · Batchelder battle will serve as a Republican referendum on the direction the party wants to travel. Tiemann's theme is that the state is on the move, while Blatchelder is arguing its time to slow, step, and then reverse the tax-spend trend

Since Tiemann took office, more conservative elements in the Republican Party have been reitical of his operations. The primary should settle the question—at least for the near future.

What Will You Do For Your Community?

In announcing his candidacy for the office of state auditor recently, Hans Johnson of Lincoln issued the following statement:

"It is my belief that most of the problems of today are attributable to a basic misallocation of human resources between the private and governmental sectors of our nation. At both the state and national level, qualified and competent citizens must become directly involved in the political processes if we are to effectively solve our most crucial problems , . . ."

Mr. Johnson could have carried his statement one step further. He could have said, and he would have been right in doing so, "At the state and national and local levels, qualified and competent citizens must become directly involved in the political pro-

During the last session of the Nebraska State Legislature, a bill was passed outlawing the caucus form of selecting local candidates. Now, each person who desires may file for office without securing the approval of anyone else.

This change was welcomed, for it was felt that the caucus system had outlived its usefulness. At last year's Ord city caucuses, for example, the two local "parties" both nominated the same individuals for each post that was up for election. The people therefore had no choice, other than a possible write-in vote, when they cast their ballots.

Now, one year later, the deadline for filing as a candidate in the 1970 elections is only eight days away. And overall, at least in Valley County, it must be said that response to the new system has been woefully disappointing.

In the city of Ord, for example, there's only one candidate for mayor, one for the City Council's Ward 1 position that is being vacated, two for the Ward 2 position, and none at all for the Ward 3 post. For the two District 5 Board of Education posts there are only three candidates. Unless things have changed drastically during the past week, the situation is worse in the county's three villages. And at the county level itself, only two of four supervisor races are being contested. During the past year the Quiz has occasionally been critical of the various local governmental bodies, questioning their decisions or the manner in which they were conducting their business. In each instance various private citizens have expressed their agreement with the Quiz stand, and a few have gone a lot further in criticizing local officials. But where are these people now, when they have an opportunity to do something more than gripe, to take a hand themselves in providing this community and those round about us with better government? In calling for more candidates, the Quiz is not advocating a complete turnover of personnel in the various public offices. But it is saying that every citizen has an obligation to do something more than gripe. And when the citizen is qualified, that includes serving at whatever level of government he feels he can be most

During the next eight days we hope each concerned citizen will consider soberly his individual responsibilities and then take action. If each one does, there will be no shortage of candidates for any office come election day.

Laos Is Only the Beginning

The "domino theory," as applied to southeast Asia, is basically this: If South Vietnam falls to Communism, other nations will follow suit one by one until the Reds control every country in that part of the world.

For years the domino theory has been discounted by various individuals and groups as being an out-moded relic of the Cold War days. Yet, during the past weekend, North Vietnam proved that the domino theory is just as meaningful today as it ever was.

Without waiting for the United States to pull its forces out of South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese leaders sent large-scale army units plunging deeper and deeper into neighboring Laos. This is the country whose neutrality was guaranteed in 1954 and again in 1962 through international agreements.

As expected, a number of liberal U.S. senators rushed to the national news outlets with statements opposing additional U.S. aid to the legal Laotian government. They in particular wanted to point out that they felt no U.S. ground troops should be committed to the defense of Laos.

For once, conservatives and liberals — or hawks and doves if you prefer — will probably find themselves on the same side of the fence. Like the liberal senators, most conservatives don't want to see U.S. troops dying by the thousands in the far-off jungles of Laos in another no-win war.

They prefer a much simpler form of aid to the Laotians and the only type that can ever produce a lasting peace in that part of the world. That is total and complete military defeat of

But this cannot be accomplished by committing U.S. troops piecemeal to the defense of South Vietnam, Laos, Thailand, or whatever country the Communists select as their next target.

It can be done only by striking at the root of the problem — Hanoi itself. It can be done only by obliterating North Vietnamese resources, supplies, and the will to wage war against her neigh-

Until the U.S. and the rest of the free world is willing to do that, the domino theory will be completely applicable and no half-hearted efforts or illusions can change it. Laos is only the begin-

First I was attacked by a wild coconut.

I was sitting by the cement fence out front of my hotel, peacefully reading a hard-to-obtain English-language Mexico City daily for which I had squandered three pesos, or 24 cents.

All at once came a noisy crash. Something banged me on my thigh and bounced around to hit a friend on the hand.

Half a dozen Canadian friends dashed to see if I was hurt, and one pleasant fellow was so upset he had to go to his apartment and lie down awhile!

But I was fine, although a little shook. If it had hit me the head—kaput! Or the shoulder, perhaps broken bones. So I was awfully lucky, as everyone keeps telling me.

A group of us have a lovely sunny corner of the patio sort of staked out, and we sit in the sun there for hours each day. Consequently, I am now a dingy brown color. Really!

Overhead 30-40 feet are the branches of perhaps 40 coconut trees, each with two dozen young green coconuts and a few brown elder trees. few brown older ones. It was a brown one that fell.

There was a table and parasol beside me, but I under it. We all look overhead often now, as we park to knit or read, or play cards. Or write columns.

Several of us already had coconuts when the wild one fell, and since I had never tasted a Coco-Loco I decided this was the day. To create this beverage you chop off the thick, spongy outside of a coconut, bore a couple of holes in the face, sip a little of the milk, and then replace it with your choice of drink-gin, vodka, rum, or in this case tequila.

I can't recommend it much. But later we broke the hard inner shell of our coconuts and enjoyed the fresh meat thoroughly. It was so filling we by-passed a meal.

Other lively happenings included a visit by the fine Italian liner, "Princess Carla." The band played, and hordes of strangely garbed people took a tugboat in and raided the local shops, paying too much and finding fault.

Then they got happily back aboard, to their luxurious quarters and surfeit of meals.

We can't figure it out. Each time a cruise ship calls a Mexican gunboat anchors close by. What's the matter? Don't the Mexicans trust the Italians?

It pays to advertise in the Ord Quiz!

Reuther, McGovern Unite in Campaign for Guaranteed Annual Wage

WASHING TON — A well

is underway to Nixon

tration's anti-hunger campaign into a national drive for a guaranteed annual income.

Under strategy worked out by United Automobile Workers President Walter Reuther, a chief advocate of the controversial income plan, the recent White House Conference on Hunger is being used as the launching pad for the new campaign.

As a starter, the 5,000 participants in the White House concipants in the White House conference are being urged to join a new national organization which would be designed to change the scope of the growing anti-hunger campaign.

As outlined in a confidential memorandum prepared by a Reuther action group, the purpose of the new organization is "to make full use of the energy of individuals and groups." of individuals and groups throughout the country that took part in the recent White House Conference on Hunger."

Delegates to the White House

This strategy is indicated by ing deadline date specifically for cities. There is now only one filing deadline date for everyone—Mar. 13, 1970, and this date was specifically set out by the legislature to avoid confu-sion. Under the old law, coun-ty, district, and state candidates had a filing deadline of Mar. 13, 1970; this had a deadline which would have been Mar. 18, 1970. Instead of having two deadline dates five days apart, the legislature established one deadline.

Finally, it is very misleading and dangerous to just read L.B. and dangerous to just read L.B. 542 and draw conclusions. This bill is a series of amendments to existing sections. The entire election code must be read with these amendments to fit together the sequence of elections.

Allen J. Beermann Deputy Secretary of State Lincoln, Neb. 68500

(Editor's Note: The statement which Mr. Beermann says he believes the secretary of state never said was printed in a newsletter from the League of Nebraska Municipalities dated Jan. 6, 1970. Referring to the filing deadline for candidates in the upcoming elections, the newsletter stated:

("The secretary of state's of-fice has now issued a ruling that that particular 60 days is to be measured from the May 12th date whether or not the municipality combines with the county. The reason stated for this is that 'according to law' THERE IS NO LONGER A DATE SET FOR MUNICIPAL ELEC-TIONS if they do not combine with the county for the election. Since the filing time requires a deadline of 60 days prior to the election 'according to law,' and the only election day now noted by state statute is the county election day, the 60 days is measured from that and the deadline will be Mar. 13 for 1970 elections."

(That statement is exactly what the Quiz attributed to Secretary of State Frank Marsh in its editorial of Feb. 5, to which Mr. Beermann refers, If it is in error, we suggest that Mr. Beermann notify the League of Nebraska Municipalities.)

If any of my old friends or classmates read this, they will surely chuckle to themselves and retort, "Silent Majority? She was néver silent a moment in her life!"

They are probably right to a certain extent, but the silence they are thinking about is a far cry from the silence which describes those of us who are proud to be a part of the Silent Majority.

I was even then a member of a "majority" in what would now be classed as "economically deprived citizens." My greatest need at the time was for a new pair of shoes to wear for the stupendous event.

My beloved dad, may he rest in peace, tried to rectify the matter by bringing home a pair purchased at the People's Store fire sale.

The shoes were too large. They had been white but were now a brownish-greyish "gook," probably from the burn and ashes. The cuban type heels were much too high for a grade schooler, but worst of all they clomped like gunboats as I awkwardly tried to manipulate them.

I truly think I could have died rather than wear them,

In the weeks, months, and years that followed we mourned. But we mourned silently.

We did not wring our hands or shout requestions.

We did not wring our hands or shout accusations. We did not beat, smash, or burn automobiles in protest. We simply put on our "overshoes" and quietly went ahead with the process of living.

Think differently, my friends, for we love and we mourn with the Silent Majority.

Because of this accident and the many heart-breaking events following it, we were forced to withdraw our son from college to manage the business left by our daughter and her husband.

in the age of the antiquated, I had to answer yes.

For I do remember walking the dark silent streets of Ord, not for a moment afraid of being mugged. I do remember a time when if one broke a pane from a window, it meant spending an entire summer picking potato bugs to pay for the window. I can recall with pleasure a whole neighborhood of kids running free in the streets, playing a pleasant game of tally-ho, with no worry of speeding "hot rods" to mar our freedom, and when liquor and drugs had no chance at all to scramble our brains. I remember when it was

For it is my coat and trudge across the stage in, horror of horrors, my overshoes. The terrible shoes were covered by overshoes, equally unpleasant to the eye but so quiet that my confidence wasn't shaken for a minute by the stares of my schoolmates.

I spoke my "piece" well and soon everyone was listening, and only when there is silence that those with something valuable to say will be heard.

I am not quite sure what it means to be a part of the Silent Majority, but if its creed says quietly to the rest of the troubled world that I love America for every inch of its coil for troubled world that I love America for every inch of its soil, for its wealth which has no equal, for allowing me to live through a depression and then be grateful for the experience, if it lets me know that the comfortable existence which even the least of us only is better than what of us enjoy is better than what our parents had, then it is for me for it is good.

"So run, that you may obtain . . . I therefore so run, not as uncertainly. (I Cor. 9:24-26)

The great Finnish runner, Paavo Nurmi, always carried a a stop watch with him in his races. He looked at it, not at the other runners, as the race went on. He kept his own tempo regardless of what other runners were doing.

Paul must have something like this in mind when he compared serving God with funning a race. It is an idea of great value. We keep ourselves in mental hot water because we measure our progress by the wrong standards, We worry about our competition. We are afraid someone will get ahead of us. We run in spurts. We are fooled by some temporary or cheap goal which we set before us. We need to learn to live our own lives and run our own race. We do this when we measure ourselves by God's will for us. We run better when we can run easily and steadily and without fear any race that is set before us.

"Our Father and our God, keep us from worrying about keeping up with others. We would pace ourselves by your divine plan and purpose. Amen.

NOTICE OF PROBATE
IN THE COUNTY COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF GEORGE BENN, Deceased.
The State of Nebraska, to all concerned: Notice is hereby given that a petition has been filed for the probate of the will of said deceased, and for the appointment of Henry Benn as Executor thereof, which will be for hearing in this court on the 24th day of March, 1970, at 2:00 o'clock P.M.

February 26, 1970

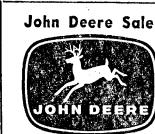

The Valley County Board of Supervisors met in special session at 12:15 P.M. following a Welfare meeting. All members were present.
Klanecky offered the following resolution for adoption which was seconded by Burson and all answered yes to roll call.

WHEREAS, the State of Nebraska, Department of Roads has expressed a desire to oil the county road from Elyria to Fort Hartsuff, with cooperation of Valley County herewith cooperate to the fullest extent possible with the State of Nebraska on such project, commensurate with current and projected budgets and funds on hand and receivable.

Tuma then moved that the resignation of Jewell Buoy, as County Superintendent of Schools be accepted. This was seconded by Burson and all answered yes to roll call.

The board recessed subject to the recall of the chairman at 12:45 P.M.

Checked your net feeding profits lately? It's important ... especially after all the work it takes to raise hogs or feed cattle. Even with good prices, your extra profit comes from feeding formulas that lower your cost of production . . . "flexible" formulas like Occo's "Pig to Payoff" or "Bigger Beef Bonus", programs. Top hog and cattle men swear by 'em! Just a little Occo in your feedlot now will s-t-re-t-c-h your feed dollar . . . and pay real dividends at market time.

The sessions are planned by the Alert Citizens Film Forum and will be held at the Odd Fellows Hall, beginning at 8 p.m. each evening. The group anticipates showing three films each night, with a short discussion period to follow.

The film forum, which was organized here recently, showed a film titled "Communists on Campus" Tuesday night at the near, the pace of political activity in Ord and Valley County quickened this week. Six new names were added to the roster of candidates at City Hall and nine at the courthouse.

Other prospective public servants have until 5 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) to file if they wish to run for office in this spring's elections. City, village, and school ballotting is scheduled Apr. 7, and county elections May 12 along with state and national primaries tional primaries.

The past week's filings at City Hall included one for mayor, three for City Council positions, and two for District 5 Board of and two for District 5 Board of Education openings. At the courthouse the new registrants were shooting for positions with the Valley County Weed Control Authority, the Loup Valleys Rural Public Power District, the Middle Loup Public Power & Irrigation District, the Twin Loups Reclamation District, and Educational Service Unit 10. There was one candidate for There was one candidate for each of those bodies except the Weed Control Authority, which attracted four hopefuls. In the week's biggest move, Joe Ruzicka made his challenge to incumbent mayor Bill French official when he filed for the city's top administrative position. French had announced last week that he would again be a candidate. They are the only persons who have filed for the office to date

bled with the three new filings.
They were made by Gaylord Boilesen, L. E. (Sac) Walford, and Verlin Smith.
Boilesen and Walford are both seeking the let Ward position seeking the 1st Ward position being vacated by Merle Van-Zandt, and Smith is trying for the 3rd Ward seat now held by Starling Lee. Neither Van-Zandt nor Lee have filed for reelection.

The action by Boilesen and Walford means that voters in the 1st Ward will have at least three names to choose from Ray Marshall had filed for the office previously.

Smith is the only person to file so far for the 3rd Ward seat. His action leaves only one city and one county position without at least one candidate. They are the police magistrate's job and the county superintendent's

Mrs. Frances McCall, current police judge, reportedly is prohibited from filing again unless she relinquishes her job with the Valley County Draft Board. The superintendent's job is currently vacant. It had been held by Mrs. Jewell Buoy, but she announced her immediate resignation two weeks ago. The resignation was accepted Feb. 27 by the Valley County Board of

The supervisors earlier had downgraded the position to a part-time one, primarily because Mrs. Buoy was employed half days as a teacher at Ord High School, They at first dropped the salary to $2,500 annually from the present $4,800, but at their Feb. 3 meeting raised it to $3,600. At that same meeting the salaries of the assessor and sheriff were raised from $6,200 to $6,600, putting them on the same level with the clerk and treasurer. Leon Klanck and treasurer. necky cast the lone dissenting vote, apparently holding out for higher raises to all four full-higher raises to all four full-time officers.

Although the action occurred after the salary-setting deadline by state law, County Attorney John Sullivan has since stated that it will stand unless chal-lenged in court.

New condidates for the Dis-

New candidates for the District 5 Board of Education, which supervises the Ord and Comstock schools, are Wilbert Calvin and Ed Rajewich. They bring to five the total number candidates for the two atlarge positions which will be voted on.

The other candidates are Drs. Dale Karre, Otis Miller, and Murray Markley, Karre and Miller are the incumbents. Calvin has served on the board in the past but is not a member at this time. The most interesting filing made last week at the county level was that of Lowell Jones, level was that of Lowell Jones, who is seeking one of two vacancies on the Valley County Weed Control Authority.

Jones was the defendant in a trial held last November, during which he was accused of resisting an officer — specifically, County Weed Superintendent Elmer Brockman. He was found not guilty in county brockman reportedly had tried to get Jones to accept a registered letter last June. In a later face-to-face confrontation, Jones again refused to accept papers from Brockman.

The defendant claimed that he had sprayed his pastures for noxious weeds in May, as directed by the Weed Control Authority, However, he said Brockspray on the land in question, charging the costs to the owner. Jones sought a temporary injunction prohibiting such action, claiming that aerial spray would do "irreparable damage" to the property, including the killing of trees, clover, and other vegetation that is not considered noxious. In this request Jones gave the Weed Control Authority permission to spray his land provided a tractor was used rather than an airplane. his land provided a tractor was used rather than an airplane.

Later, Jones claimed that he, Brockman, and a state official had discussed the situation, and that the state official had said no action would be taken provided Jones agreed to spray again himself in October. The defendant said he agreed to this.

Then, two months later on Aug. 19, Brockman had Jones arrested for resisting an officer in connection with the earlier incident. The defendant asked for and received a jump trial for and received a jury trial, during which he entered a plea of not guilty. The plea was upheld by the jury.

Local Girl Selected Top Future Homemaker

Chris Erikson, a senior at Ord High School, has been named Nebraska's 1970 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. She is the first state winner Ord has had in this competition.

Selected from more than 7,000 senior girls in 351 Nebraska high schools on the basis of a written examination covering homemaking knowledge and attitudes, Chris will receive a $1,500 college scholarship from General Mills, sponsor of the annual education program. She is also now eligible for national

As State Homemaker of Tomorrow, Chris and her faculty advisor, Mrs. Phyllis Garnick, will join winners from each of the other states and the District of Columbia Apr. 12-17 for a tour of Washington, D. C., and colon-ial Williamsburg, Va. A climax to the five-day session will be an announcement of the 1970 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow, whose scholar-ship will be increased to $5,000. Three national runners up will receive scholarship increases to $4,000, $3,000, and $2,000. Centering on personal observation and interviews during the tour, national judging will be conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago, which also constructed and graded the state test. Chris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Erikson of Ord, has been an active participant in many Ord High School functions and organizations throughout her student years. She has been on the Student Council and a member of the school hand and member of the school band and drill team.

She likes to sew, knit, play the clarinet, and cook

He added that in 1962 there were only 12 local or area planning commissions in Nebraska but now there are 175.

A third important part of planning deals with finances, Monroe stated, explaining that the city must decide what it can afford.

Once these steps have been accomplished, he continued, the community in 1st determine what kind of industry it wants.

Preparation Is Key To Attracting Industry, State Official Says

Those communities in Nebras-ka "which have prepared them-selves" will get more industry and more jobs during the 1970s, the state's top industrial plan-ner predicted Tuesday night.

James Monroe, director of the Nebraska Department of Economic Development, made his remarks at a banquet staged by the Ord Industrial Development Corp. Approximately 80 persons attended.

Keys to the preparation he spoke of, Monroe said, were planning, research, and promotion.

"The first thing you've got to do is determine if a majority of the people realiy want industry," Monroe said. "That's especially important now with the pollution problem we have. People naturally associate pollution with industry, but the two don't necessarily go together. Some industries pollute, and some don't."

Monroe also called for a com-prehensive plan, which has been talked about and worked on for several years here, but which has never been finalized. 'A growing community needs some sort of growth plan, and

Referring to comments made earlier by Hal Pierce, president of the Ord Development Corp., Monroe said he was especially happy to hear someone say "the kind that fits." In his introductory reported to be a superior of the ball of the same of the s tory remarks Pierce had stated:
"We in Ord have repeatedly asked for something we could use something we could tuck to bed without any diffi-culty. We're not going for a General Electric plant of 200 or 300 people; we want something that will employ 15 or 30 or 40 people."

But he quickly added, "We were sincere in going after the State Game Commission. We thought we could handle it, but unfortunately somebody else didn't."

Planning will necessarily involve the second step in the industry-seeking process — re-search, Monroe explained.

"You should get together a fact sheet showing labor re-sources, wages, and other infor-mation for your area," he stat-ed. "When it's completed, it will show your weak spots and your show your weak spots and your strong points."

Finally, the city must promote itself if it is to attract industry, Monroe stated.

"Who knows you're even interested in getting more industry if you don't tell somebody?" he asked. "That's like winking at a girl in the dark; you know what you're doing, but nobody else does."

Advertising Ord is easy, he added, explaining that the com-munity's citizens travel through-out the state and nation. They should be talking their town up to anyone who's interested, wherever they go, he said.

To accomplish the goals of an industrial development program, a city's new enterprises need not necessarily be in the manufacturing line, he added. "They may be in retailing, wholesaling, transportation, or even tourism," he explained. Firms operating in any of those fields could accomplish the same things as a manufacturing same things as a manufacturing concern, he explained, listing the goals of a development program as the creation of job opportunities, increasing per cap ita income, and curbing out-

Finally, Monroe cautioned city planners against neglecting what industry they already have. "Working with already-existing local industry is not as glamorous as bringing in new, but the time spent with them will pay dividends," he stated. "I'd be really remiss if I didn't urge you to assist your local industry."

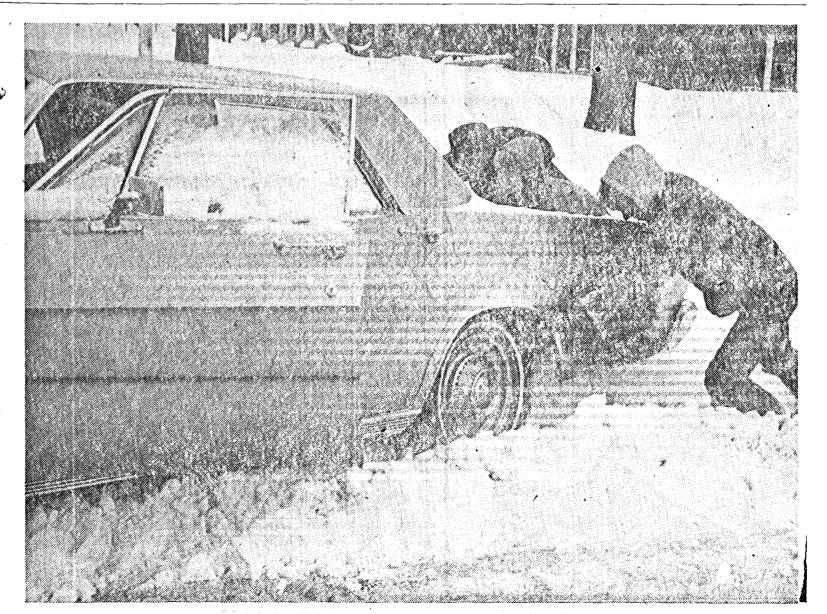

dustry."

And he put in a plug for farmers too, pointing out that many industrial concerns — including some in Ord — are including some in Ord — are involved in processing agricultural products. However, the number of jobs available in agriculture is on the decline compared to manufacturing, Monroe stated, and he predicted that by 1972 the number of manufacturing amplements in the state facturing employees in the state would move permanently ahead of its farm workers.

Nature Says . . Don't Rush It!

The fact that winter doesn't end until Mar. 20 was well remembered by residents of the Ord vicinity Monday, as a sudden storm left an estimated 12 inches of snow in this locale. The storm caught many motorists and pedestrians unprepared, but friend-ly neighbors chipped in to lend a helping hand, as in the photo at right. Visability was so poor that for a time plans were being made to keep rural students in Ord homes overnight. However, as the storm subsided at mid-afternoon, school was dismissed an hour early and the buses were able to travel their country routes with caution. A number of Ord residents — like Carl Schauer, left — who had purchased snow blowers after last year's severe winter, finally got a chance to try them out. The 12 inches of snow there was the most reported in the state. However, it was heavily localized as the Comstock area re-ported only 1 inch.

Loren Vancura, a senior, waited all season for his chance to start on the Ord basketball team. He finally got it in the District 6 tournament and sparked the once brow-beaten Chanticleers to two upset victories. Vancura was one of the happiest of the Chants following Thursday's triumph over Albion.

Chants Surprise But Miss Lincoln

Coach Chuck Squier stated last fall after Albion had played its starters practically all the way and beaten Ord in a football game, 54-0.

Squier was thinking ahead to the 1970 football season when he made that statement, but Ord High athletes got faster revenge than even Squier had anticipated. The Ord basketball team, playing superbly against a physically superior Albion team, upset the Cardinals by a 66-60 score Thursday night to deny them a shot at Valentine and a possible trip to the state tournament.

The Chanticleers lost to Valentine themselves the following night, 71-60. But most Ord fans considered it a successful season anyhow because of the tremendous way their team finished the season.

After losing 12 of its first 16 games, Ord did an about face in the last five contests. The Chants won three of those last five and played well in the others, losing only a road game to Ainsworth in overtime and the finale to Valentine. They subsequently finished the season with a 7-14 record, the first losing mark in Coach Ken Trubey's seven years at Ord.

The Albion and Valentine

The Albion and Valentine contests came in the semifinals and finals of the District 6 tournament held here in Ord. Valentine advanced to the Class B state meet at Lincoln, which will be played this weekend. The Badgers are seeded fourth there and have drawn Sidney, an unseeded team with a 9-12 record, as their first-round opponent.

should they win that one, they'll likely play top-rated Cozad in the semifinals. Cozad, with a 19-0 season record, will play Omaha Paul VI (15-4) in its first game.

Other first-round contests in Class B pair second-seeded Laurel (23-1) against Lincoln Pius X (5-15) and third-seeded Schuyler (18-2) against Fairbury (19-2)

As it has done throughout the year, Ord gave away inches all over the court in its two final tournament games. The Chants fielded a starting lineup that averaged 5 feet, 10 inches and had only one man over 6 feet. And that was Jim Andreesen, Albion, on the other hand, averaged over 6 feet and had two 6.5 performers. Valentine also averaged over 6 feet and had players that measured 6.3 and 6.2.

Trying all season to find his best combination, Coach Trubey seemed to finally make it in the district tournament.

Andreesen, whose only two varsity starts were the two final tournament games, was a sparkplug. He scored 11 points against Albion and 12 against Valentine, and was the team's second best rebounder against Albion and its hest against Val. Albion and its best against Val-

Loren Vancura, whose only previous start this season was the first-round tourney game against Ainsworth, scored 15 and 13 points in the last two. And he traded places in the re-bounding department with An-dreesen, leading in the first game and finishing second in the latter.

Vancura, a senior, drew special praise from Ord fans because of his unique position as a senior who had seen little playing time on a losing team. Other players have quit the squad under more favorable conditions than that, but Vancura stuck it out and finally had his brief moment of glory.

brief moment of glory.

Tom Klanecky, another late-season starter (the last five games) also played well. Except for the Valentine contest, when he was held to eight points, the 5-9 sophomore scored in double figures every game after being promoted from the reserve unit. Duane Kovarik, a 5-8 senior, was praised by Trubey for his leadership in the tournament. "That's something we hadn't had since Christmas - time," Trubey stated.

And another senior, 6-1 Greg Martin, drew high marks for the way he rebounded against Al-bion after coming off the bench in relief of Darrell Farmer, who got into foul trouble early.

The Albion contest was clearly the season highlight for Ord fans, who kept waiting and waiting for their team to come about its composure in the clutch was much better than the experience ed Albion crew that had nothing but seniors in the starting lineup.

Earlier in the year the Cardinals had beaten Ord by 21 points. Ord played a zone defense, which collapsed on the two big boys, all the way.

Standards required to make the honor roll were lowered at the beginning of this school year, and that accounted for part of a huge jump over last year. However, Principal Bob Norton said Friday that he felt the increase is "more a result of the students working harder than of lower standards."

more students are working harder is borne out by the fact that 129 students made the semester honor roll compared to 120 for the first quarter. The grade requirements did not change during that period.

Twenty-six of those 129 honorees achieved the goal Norton spoke of—straight A's. They were concentrated in the three upper classes as eight seniors, seven juniors, and nine sophomores were cited. The eighth and ninth grades each had one all-A student and the seventh none.

The seniors, who had the top percentage on the quarter honpercentage on the quarter honor roll, were nosed out at the semester break for class laurels by the eighth grade. Although the twelfth grade had 32 students on the honor roll compared to 20 from the eighth, its percentage was 31.4 compared to the younger group's 31.7. That's because the senior class has 102 members this year and the eighth grade only 63.

Another Step Backwards

President Richard Nixon's decision to close the United States consulate in Rhodesia—and in effect completely sever diplomatic relations between the two countries—is an extreme disappointment to informed Americans.

Rhodesia is the small African nation which declared her independence from Great Britain in November, 1965. The British, supported by the United Nations Security Council, retaliated with economic sanctions.

The United States went along with Britain's request even though such action forces her (the U.S.) to depend heavily on the Soviet Union for a vital raw material necessary to produce jet engines, gas turbines, guns, armor-piercing projectiles, and other products essential for national defense. This raw material is chrome ore, which previously was obtained in large quantities from Rhodesia.

Maj. Gen. A. N. Labovsky is a leading specialist in economic warfare for the Soviet Army. He has written a guidebook, "Strategy and Economics," which is recommended for use in the Soviet armed forces.

In a section dealing with what he calls "the weak-link principle," Labovsky cites the great-dependence of modern warfare on such raw materials as chrome and platinum. Then he points out that the U.S. and other western countries have a critical "weak link" in that they are almost devoid of these raw materials. On the other hand, the Soviet Union has ample supplies of such minerals.

Making practical use of this information, Labovsky advo-cates that his country avoid any dependence on outsiders for these materials while encouraging potential adversaries—like the U.S.—to accept such exports from the Soviet Union. So far the United States has swallowed both hook and line, and President Nixon's latest decision makes it obvious that the sinker is next.

Speaking before the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee on Africa, Fred Russell said recently:

"Shipments (of chrome ore) from the Soviet Union have increased from 27 percent of the United States supply in 1965 to 45 percent in 1969, placing us in heavy dependency upon the Soviet Union. If the U.S.S.R. were to discontinue sales of chromium ore to the United States for one year, we would use up the entire uncommitted stockpile excess in that year."

Mr. Russell is a deputy for the Office of Emergency Prearedness and should know whereof he speaks. Rhodesia's major "crime" is the fact that she practices cial policies which do not coincide with those of either Great Britain or the United States. Yet both her black and white citizens have shared in the fruits of four years of peace and tranquilty, and there's no evidence that the black uprising long predicted by anti-Rhodesians is anywhere at hand. As a matter of fact, Rhodesia has been a model of stability for four years while other more "democratic" African nations have floundered with revolts and insurrection.

Besides the fact that we in the U.S. are placing the Russian sickle at our own throat by depending on the Soviets for strategic materials, our treatment of Rhodesia becomes even more absurd when other factors are considered. For example, the U.S. boycott of Rhodesia was instigated at Britain's request. Yet British ships have been frequent visitors to the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong throughout our four-year war in Vietnam. They still arrive there regularly, helping the North Vietnamese remain economically able to carry on their war of aggression against the South Vietnamese and now the Laotians.

Secondly, although the U.S. has never poured huge sums of foreign aid into Rhodesia as it has other countries, the government of Ian Smith is one of the few which has offered to assist us in fighting the Communists in Vietnam. Naturally we turned down the offer.

During the past several months there has been much written and spoken in this country about a reassessment of foreign policy. Such a reassessment definitely is in order, and it ought to begin with Rhodesia and Great Britain. The time seems ripe for the United States to begin cooperating with and assisting those countries which cooperate with and assist us.

Democrats Clutching at Straws? By Senator Barry Goldwater (R.-Ariz.)

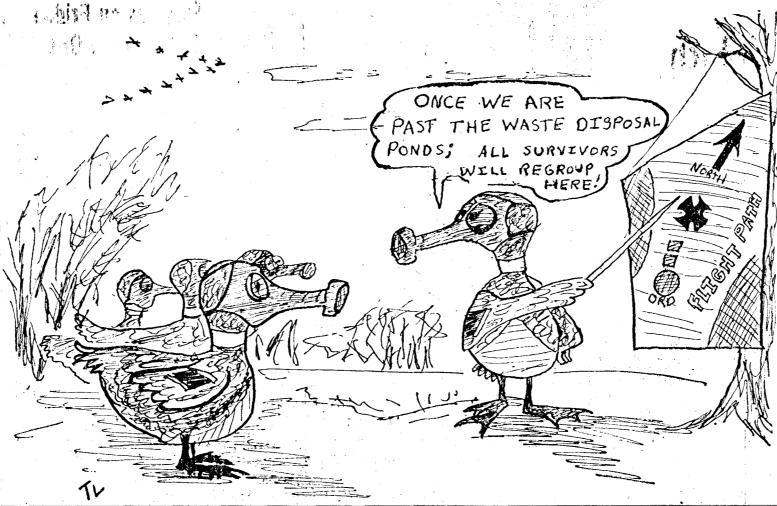

Fred Harris, former national chairman of the Democratic Party, recently announced plans to use the issue of inflation against President Nixon during the 1970 election campaign. This constitutes something of a record even for the subtle art of political hogwash. If Chairman Harris and the liberal Democrats for whom he speaks plan to mount a drive against inflation during the coming year, let me say that we who have been fighting the battle through successive Democratic administrations welcome them to the fray.

It should be fascinating to see Chairman Harris and his men standing against the great, extravagant wage demands of the huge labor unions in defense of the hard-pressed American consumer. It should also be interesting to watch the liberal Democrats fighting to hold the budget for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare down to anti-inflationary levels. It will be good to see the liberals recognize how inflationary have been their poorly planned welfare engineering projects of the past. It will be interesting to see if they recommend dissolution of the so-called "War on Poverty" and the Office of Economic Opportunity. There are many ways to fight inflation, but it is a battle for which the American liberals have heretofore had little taste and absolutely no stomach. To do the job properly, the liberals would have to bring under control the government excesses fostered by them. My hometown newspaper, the Arizona Republic, does not believe there is much chance that the liberals will take up this problem in any serious way. In fact, that newspaper recently pointed out that Harris' declaration that his party plans to use the issue of inflation against Richard Nixon "is about like Nasser threatening to charge Golda Meir with anti-Semitism."

Governor Takes Initial Steps To Combat Drug Use in Nebraska

By Melvin Paul Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Assn.

LINCOLN — A state commission is to be established to put some muscle into the fight against the misuse of drugs.
Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann announced plans for the commission after a two-day conference on drug abuse held at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education. About 200 persons attended the conference, which the governor had called. The extent of the drug problem in Nebraska and the efforts currently being made to combat it were described, and then the conference participants were asked to make recpants were asked to make recommendations on how the efforts could be strengthened.

Each of the workshop commit-ees recommended a central fate agency which could coordinate the anti-drug campaign. Tiemann responded by announc-ing he would form such a commission by executive order and then, if reelected, request the 1971 Legislature to make it a sta-

Many of the films and other drug information materials now being circulated, the participants said, isn't up to date, and many of the speakers called in to present programs aren't qualified to do so.

The conference recommended that guidelines for a course in drug abuse dangers be develop-ed by the State Department of Education so local educational leaders would know what type of information they should use. Another recommendation was for a course in teachers colleges so prospective instructors would

Also recommended were courses for physicians, attorneys and educators to help them understand the problems better. Special counselling groups for colleges were suggested. The high school-age participants said counsellors in most high schools are "too busy giving tests and things" to have time to assist a student with rersonal problems.

Often, the younger participants said, the only way to get through to a youth tempted by drugs is to use someone his own age. The conference suggested that adults encourage and assist younger persons who want to give counsel to fellow students. give counsel to fellow students.

Statistics compiled for the conference showed the rapid rise of grug abuse, as shown through arrests. The report showed there were 17 arrests on drug charges in 1966 throughout the state. In 1968, the figure climbed to 232. And, last year, it more than doubled — hitting 510.

It was stressed that these figures showed only the arrests.

There were 42 17-year-olds, 68 18-year-olds, 82 19-year-olds and 57 20-year-olds. What got Frank riled was this statement he had saw in the paper by this feller that said the country was falling apart cause the people had fergot how to work. Life is too easy now, and success comes too easy. What this feller was saying was that when nobody had nothing, everbody scratched harder. And with everbody in the same boat nobody had time to rock it, so we all got along better.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Frank Cernik told the fellers

ain't far from chopping off yore head to git rid of a toothache. They is a heap of differunce between working to keep from starving to death and taking pride in yore work, was Frank's words, and he allowed that some folks in this country has got them mixed up.

Course, went on Frank, it is bad when a feller that tries to do a better job gits slapped down ever time he stands up. Frank had saw where this carpenter was fired cause his work was of "unnecessary high gual" was of "unnecessary high quality." It would be a rare thing these days, allowed Frank, if a feller got fired fer pore quality work.

Emil John reminded Frank that the last time the bottom fell out was when the Republi-cans was running things. He said he was worried the Nixon we all got along better.

Frank said he was strong agin all the Guvernment handouts, but wishing fer hard times to cure what ails the country said ne was worried the Nixon Administration didn't know the difference between putting brakes on the economy and putting skids under it. Emil said he reckons the Republicans will come up with a depression of strength, like the Democrats use to talk about them deficits of strength.

Right now, went on Emil, they is such a need fer people in all kinds of trades until some colleges is offering classes in odd jobs. People is showed how to paint walls, trim fruit trees, fix plumbing and make general repairs. One of the trades where the demand is biggr Emil said, is blacksmiths, and colleges is offering this train-

They is some serious problems in this country, allowed Frank, but starting new problems ain't the way to fix the old ones. Our trouble is that we has got to the place we want everthing fer nothing, but tearing down everthing and leaving nothing ain't the way to make us appreciate what we

— wider—not higher —
Last week I started writing about public speaking. Before I had completed my column, I got on the subject of Hastings High School and the respect I held for the students the students.

This past week I was doubly rewarded. First came a letter from Mamie Smith — former Ord librarian now living in Hastings. Next came a letter from one of the students, thanking me for what I'd said.

me for what I'd said. The writer of the latter letter was a high school senior that was confronted with the problem of drinking and being "part of the crowd"... or refusing to drink and possibly not being "socially accepted." I hope my words help her make some right decisions in the future.

Actually - last week - I Actually — last week — I hadn't intended to dwell on the students of Hastings. Once I get started writing, though, quite frequently I find myself pursuing different avenues of thought than those I'd originally intended to travel Such is life I more to travel. Such is life, I guess.

The thought occurred to me, last week, that readers might wonder where I get speech material. Most people — I guess — think I probably give the same talk everywhere I go. This is not the case.

Only a few weeks ago I received a most rewarding letter from Ellen Misko. She led the boys' choir at the Presbyterian Church when I was about 12 years old and was as close as anyone ever could be to being my "second mother." I admired Ellen . . . and I still do. We think along the same lines, I believe, and her letter commented on my column about jotting down little bits of inspirational material I find when I read.

Ellen wrote me that she can't

Ellen wrote me that she can't read without a pen or pencil in her hand. She makes notations in the books she reads. Then when she loans a book to a friend, her request to THEM for using her book is that THEY write their own comments as they read . . . then sign them so she can tell how others react to the authors thoughtsi

I liked Eillen's idea. Not only can she see if the person borrowing the book actually did read the but she can compare philosophical comments and get to know others much better. I thought Ellen's idea was worth passing on — as well as using myself. Why be selfish and keep your ideas to yourself? Share your ideas to yourself? Share them with others.

All this preliminary writing brings me back to where I started last week. I was going to do a column on where I get speech material. It's from reading. Constant . . unending reading.

I love to read — anything and everything I can get my hands on. Only recently I began the Harvard Classics. Maybe I won't finish them in my lifetime, but Cervante's Don Quixote was worth it, should I NEVER get any of the other volumes completed.

Those that don't read are wasting their lives, I think. I'll not run higher education into the ground, but for me it was a wasted 2½ years of both time and money to go on to college. I've learned more by reading — on my own — than I probably would have learned in four complete years of college.
Only recently I read — and liked — what someone else said about "higher education." In fact, the writer was W. D. Hoard fact, the writer was W. D. Hoard in Hoard's Dairyman . . . to give you some idea of the diversified reading I try to do. I echo Mr.

reading I try to do. I echo Mr. Hoard's words:

"We have fallen into a foolish habit of talking about higher education. There is no such thing; there is a wider education, when a man gets where he can see a little further, that is all. The altitude where you stand is the important thing, not what you get. What you get is width; you see more, you think more, you study more, you believe more, and you have more faith, and do more."

My quest — like The Man of the Mancha — is to "reach the unreachable star." You can do it through reading — temporarily. In the meantime you'll be astonished at how much you've tonished at how much you've widened your horizons. It doesn't take a $10,000 education. It can be done with a 5-cent library card . . . or a friend that will loan you books if you'll just take the time to read them,

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico-Experiences in Mexico (Puerta Vallarta that is) can be very varied; for example, like the three-day visit of 250 Wally Byam Airstream touring trail-

They carried something over 500 travellers, including two mechanics and two doctors who were available to take care of anything that went wrong with either cars or people. Most of the people looked to be on the retiring side of 50, were well dressed, and seemed to be having a wonderful time.

Atop every Wally Byam cohort—well, almost every one—was a happy little navy blue beret with a Byam insignia, so that members of the group could be recognized from near and far. Of course they swarmed through the shops and bought like

Also of course, the hucksters swarmed over them. Little tads offered stands of postcards, or displays of gold earrings. Old men offered the ruffled white plastic hats that fancily trim and protect many heads from the broiling Puerto Vallarta sun. Men bargained for the big straw toppers, and they are needed

Some sellers carried heavy loads of bright serapes, their substitute for an overcoat in the chill of the evening.

Fringe-y dresses intrigued the women. So did alabaster bookends, wooden bowls beautifully hand carved, and trays of The taco man hawked his good hot tacos. The fruit man offered paper cones of cut-up fruit, bright and inviting and only one peso (eight cents).

There were dozens of other items to buy, and plenty of buyers, for the big handsome "Princess Carla" cruiser of the Italian line put into port while the Byam Caravan was still here and turned loose another 600 passengers. They swarmed ashore to the strains of the Municipal band, the ship's band, and the musicians of a boat that makes a daily pleasure trip.

Coming from Los Angeles, Calif., they were adorned as

Russian Helicopters, Pilots Aid North Vietnamese Forces in Laos

WASHING-TON — Large Soviet-built helicopters are being used to ferry ing used to ferry North Vietnamese troops and supplies to Laos in preparation for a new military offensive there.

The fleet of helicopters, which operate mostly at night, are being piloted by Russian fliers whose voices have been picked up by United States monitoring devices. A flight of four was spotted last week by an American re-connaissance aircraft returning from a mission over North Viet-The American pilot reported that the helicopters were being used to airlift heavy military equipment, including long range 11 mm. artillery, from a base southwest of Hanoi to an advance North Vietnamese staging area near the Plain of Jars.

The unexpected appearance of the Soviet-built helicopters in the battle for Laos is being taken by President Richard Nixon's military advisers as a definite sign that Hanoi plans to make the country a major battle-ground throughout the spring and summer. With more than 65,000 North Vietnamese troops now in Laos fighting alongside the Commu-nist Pathet Lao, the helicopter airlift gives these forces the logistical backing which the Com-munists lacked in previous military campaigns. Under the rules of war set by the White House for Laos, American pilots have authority to destroy the helicopters if they are on the ground but may not attack them in the air. Whether the latter restriction should now be lifted is being debated at the White House.

Hanoi's Objective The Nixon Administration views the latest North Vietnamese military offensive in Laos as closely linked to the war in South Vietnam. That's the private estimate that Secretary of State William

Rogers gave members of the Senate Foreign Relations Com-mittee when he briefed them on U.S. military involvement in the Laotian fighting. Rogers reported that the objective of U.S. air support for Premier Souvanna Phouma's force is to keep North Vietnam from putting military pressure on the Laotian government to end the U.S. bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The Ho Chi Minh Trail is a series of roads in eastern Laos which the North Vietnamese control and use as their main infiltration route into South Vietnam. In February, more than 15,000 trucks were spotted carrying supplies and troops over these roads to North Vietnamese bases in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

According to Rogers, the North Vietnamese have made it clear to Premier Souvanna Phouma that their military attacks are designed to force him to ask the U.S. to end its bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail. Without the present U.S. air give in to Hanoi's demand in order to keep his country from being completely overrun. If the Laotian premier requested a bombing halt, Rogers pointed out, the U.S. would have no other choice than to agree to it. This in turn, he said, would endanger the administration's Vietnamization policy in South Vietnam. In explaining the connection between the two, Rogers reveal-ed that the Administration's Vietnamization policy presup-poses that there will be no sharp increase in the enemy's offensive capability. Bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, he told the senators, has so far kept the North Vietnam-ese from being able to increase their military capability in South Vietnam. Another Sanctuary When one GOP senator asked what would happen if the Laotians demand that Americans stop interdicting the Ho Chi Minh Trail, Rogers replied: "If this happen's North Vietsupport for his government nam, which today is battered troops, Rogers stressed that the and reeling, will get a new capacity for aggression. She will gain yet another form of sanc-tuary, and men and materials will move just that much more easily into South Vietnam. -A halt n the bombing could en-danger the whole Vietnamization policy and delay further withdrawals of American forc-

Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, in an earlier briefing had given the senators a different view of Hanoi's intentions.

He saw the military drive as one big operation to link up the northern part of Vietnam with northern Laos and northern Tailand, with control of all the former French Indo-China lands and of Thailand as the ultimate goal.

"Isn't that the old domino theory?" asked Senator Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), a critic of administration's present Vietnam policy.

"Yes," answered Helms. "But there is plenty of new evidence to indicate that Hanoi with to indicate that Hanoi with help from Communist China and Russia hopes to achieve com-

tary offensive in Laos to test President Nixon's new Asian

"They apparently want to see what kind of military response President Nixon will make to their campaign in Laos," stated

"If the North Vietnamese are successful in their current military operations in Laos," Helms warned, "the Communists could in a few weeks threaten the twin capitals of Laos — Luang Prabang in the northwest and Vientiane in the southwest." In answering questions about the CIA role in Laos, Helms said there were less than 300 employees of the super-secret agency now in that country and most of them were acting as advisers. Both Helms and Rogers denied reports that the U.S. had any ground forces in Laos. Helms estimated that the Chinese Communists now have about 20,000 troops in North Vietnam, but he said they were not involved in the fighting.

resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.

Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.

3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs. Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system. 4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you

5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out of to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field. Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.

A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.

Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.

Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transamissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.

10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If. actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?

Putting you first, keeps us first. 🙉

Buttong the famous roads across burma involved some of the most difficult and dangerous work in engineering history! Burma is a land of dense and deadly jungles, a country infested with terrible diseases. Steep mountains, range after range, stand as mighty barriers obstructing the way! It took courag-eous planning and terrific effort to throw these highways over mountain passes deep gorges and swift rivers! Hundreds of mountain passes, deep gorges, and swift rivers! Hundreds of thousands of men labored heroically for several years to construct these important highways across Burma!

It was not enough just to build roads. It was also necessary to erect REST HOUSES along the way so that travelers had a place to stop for food and shelter, as well as a place to repair the wear and tear on their automobiles. After a night in such a house, the tired traveler was refreshed and rested, ready and eager to set out again on the steep and difficult road before

That is what the day of worship should be in the lives of men! It would be a rest house along life's way! It is a time to refresh our exhausted spirits, to repair the wear and tear of our temper and our morals! In Bible times, the Pharisees made the Sabbath a day of gloomy burden, oppressed by many interpretations and regulations! Jesus made the Sabbath day to do good, a time for happiness and more abundant living!—a time for renewal through holy worship!

Building a life is a vast and difficult undertaking in our times filled with problems, temptations and difficulties! The road of life is not always an easy one, the grades are steep and the path is long! The Sabbath should be our rest house! We should so spend the day that we find new strength and inspiration for the journey ahead of us! See you in church Sunday!

State Officials Try To Explain How Driver's License Bill Got By

Statehouse Correspondent

The Nebraska Press Assn. LINCOLN - Nebraskans have reacted with some heat to the discovery that an action of the 1969 state legislature required them to buy a new driver's li-cense if they move to another

The lawmakers have responded by saying that's not what they intended at all. But the provision is written clearly into Legislative Bill 305 which was passisted.

The two senators responsible for the amendment to L.B. 305 which has caused the controversy said they didn't realize the language would create problems. The amendment was offered to the Public Works Committee during an executive session by senators Elmer Wallwey of Emerson and William Wylie of Elgin. What they wanted, they say, was a provision which would allow persons whose names or addresses how above names or addresses how above as get addresses have changed to get a duplicate license with up-to-date information at no cost. They said they asked Emmett

Dennis Jr., then director of the State Motor Vehicles Department, to prepare such an amendment. He did. But the language he used would require payment of a new fee if the person were getting the duplicate license from a county other than the one which had issued the original which had issued the original certificate.

Wylie and Wallwey say now they apparently didn't notice that part of the amendment, and Dennis couldn't be reached last week to explain why he wrote it in. When he was contacted earlier about it, he said he didn't remember writing the amendment at all. But Wylie produced a Motor Vehicles Department memorandum initialed by Dennis which suggested the amendnis which suggested the amendment language.

The Public Works Committee attached the amendment to the with allowing spouses of service-men to drive back to Nebraska if their driver's license expired while they were stationed away from home.

from home.

Wallwey made a motion on the floor to have the amendment endorsed by the full legislature. The transcript of the floor debate shows Wallwey was the only senator who spoke on the proposal, and he said the idea of the amendment was "to take care of the fact that the county clerk shall make a change in the certificate without cost."

The proposal was adopted by voice vote, and the amended bill was advanced off general file on a 34-0 vote. In the past few weeks

Sun Bowl Flag

Goes Home
A group of enthusiastic Cornhusker football fans last year brought home a trophy from the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. But it's being sent back.
It seems the fans thought the huge orange and white Sun Bowl flag flying over the El Paso stadium would be a swell momento of Nebraska's rousing 45-6 victory over Georgia.

over Georgia. So they hauled it down. But another group of Husker fans had the same idea and insisted that the flag be torn in half and shared with them — or they would take the whole thing by force.

A compromise was reached, and the flag was divided in two.

The getaway, however, was not clean. Some Texans had been watching, and they noted one of the Nebraska car's license number.

Sun Bowl officials were told, and an appeal was sent to Gov. Norbert Tiemann for help in recovering the big banner. The governor had the State Patrol check it out. With the license number clue, covered that there had been yet another division, and they only got one of four pieces. It took further detective work to track down the other three pieces.

The governor is sending back the four sections of the flag, the patrol's report of its investiga-tion, and an apology about the incident. The University of Nebraska students, a Kearney State Col-lege student, and a non-student were involved; but if any charges are to be filed, it will be up to the Sun Bowl officials to file them. It was expected the Sun Bowl sponsors would be satisfied with return of the flag - even in four pieces. Committee Studies L.B. 15

A committee of private citizens and state officials has been organized by the governor to develop guidelines for the state government to use in implementing a law passed by the 1969 legislature.

The law permits public employes to bargain collectively—through unions—for wages and other benefits. The private citizens are volunteering their time to study the problem. Tiemann appointed the committee last year, but no public announcement was made. Existence of the group was uncovered last week when the committee members took a trip to Madison, Wis, to see how Wis-consin officials are administering

Pesticide Question Requires Cooperation

By John Schade

Without chemicals, the cost of milk would increase 30 percent. The cost of sweet corn would more than double, and the cost of apples would more than triple.

From these figures you can see that the American farmer does need pesticides to remain competitive.

Further research from our experiment stations shows that over two percent of all apples grown in the United States would grown in the United States would be infested with codling moth worms if orchard owners did not use insecticides. Grubs would cut potato yield by 30 to 35 percent, and livestock pests would lower milk and meat production by more than 25 percent.

The food processor needs pesticides to insure a continuous supply of raw products. However, he also needs to be sure that his products are free from harmful pesticide residues.

Conservationists, as well as the public, need pesticides to pro-

Ample Phosphorous Vital

The available phosphorous in pasture plants is low except for a few weeks during the spring growing season.

Just before calving and during lactation, the cow's phosphorus requirements are highest.

A serious shortage can be caused by the continuous withdrawal of phosphorus from the cow's body. This can be responsible for poor conception rates, calving difficulties, failure to clean prop-erly after calving, and general

To avoid problems from phosphorus shortage, a supple of high phosphorus mineral should be kept before breeding animals at all times.

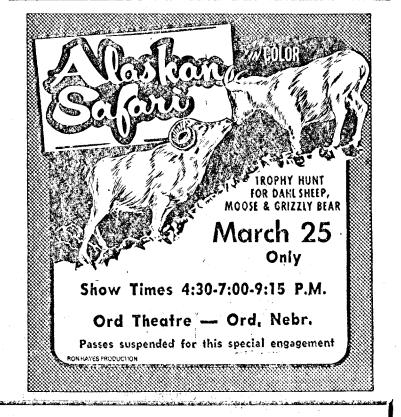

Hogs Getting Meatier
During the past decade the average live weight of commercial slaughtered hogs was held about steady, but the yield of pork to lard has changed significantly.

Yields of pork per hog rose from around 139 pounds in 1960 to nearly 154 pounds in 1969. Lard, on the other hand, dropped from 31 pounds to 22 pounds.

These changes resulted from a general movement toward meat-type hog production.

APRIL 1 and SEPTEMBER 30

Numerous complaints have been received this spring about dogs, so this is a notice to all people owning or harboring dogs that they must keep them either tied or shut up be tween the two above dates - APRIL 1 and SEPTEMBER 30.

In case any person or persons who own or harbor a dog or dogs, do not heed the above warning, he or she will be subject to the penalty provided by the ordinance.

Furthermore, Dog License Tags for the year, 1970, will be on sale May 1. Be sure to purchase a tag for your dog on or before May 10, 1970.

Whether or not you keep your dog on your premises, you still must purchase a dog license and rabies vaccination. All dogs must have a collar and tags on. A tag does not permit a dog to run at large.

If you like your dog --- keep it tied or shut up -- don't let it impose on your neighbors.

Extremists? You Decide

Some weeks ago a new organization was formed in Ord. The members called themselves the Valley County Alert Citizens Film Forum.

To date the organization has shown three films here in Ord. It plans to show three more tonight (Thursday) and three more a week from tonight.

The fact that some members of the group are also members of the John Birch Society will undoubtedly keep a number of citizens away. This will be most unfortunate, if the upcoming films are anything like the ones shown here previously.

The previous films naturally dealt with the Birch Society's favorite topic: Communism. But there was not the wild, helterskelter name-calling that some have attributed to the Birchers.

For the most part, the films let the Communists do their own talking. The first one, called "More Deadly Than War," was a lecture by G. Edward Griffin of the American Opinion Speakers Bureau. Griffin documented practically everything he said, quoting Communists or former Communists.

The second film, called "Communists on Campus" and produced by Harding College at Searcey, Ark, was primarily a series of short news excerpts filmed at different locations around the country. The producers merely assembled them and added some overall coordination.

By itself, the speech of a Rap Brown or a Tom Hayden may sound like so much garbage. But put together, as they were in that film, such speeches provide a frightening yardstick of just how far the Communists have come in their attempts to subvert this country.

While awakening Americans to what is going on around them, the films did not urge everyone to rush out and lay in a stock of firearms. On the contrary, they pointed out that violent retaliation is exactly what the Communists are hoping for, and they urged peaceful resistance.

No doubt many citizens will still dismiss the coming films as the product of some right-wing extremist group. Again we say: this will be most unfortunate.

Dr. Otis Miller, chairman of the Valley County Alert Citizens Film Forum, says that the group's objective is to inform and educate. The proof of a truly educated person does not lie wholly in what he knows; instead, his willingness to consider new and different points of view and to search constantly for more information are equally as important.

Once a person has attended a session of the Valley County Alert Citizens Film Forum, he may still brand the group as extremists, witch-hunters, or any other name he chooses. But we think it grossly unfair to do so without first seeing what the group is and what it is trying to do.

Tonight's films will be shown in the Ord High School cafeteria beginning at 8 p.m.

Rhodesia, Chapter 2

The sequel to last week's Quiz editorial deploring the closing of the United States consulate in Rhodesia appeared in the Mar. 17 issue of Newsweek magazine. In its "Periscope" col-umn, Newsweek told how James Holland will shortly become the first U.S. ambassador to Sweden in nearly two years.

"Neutral" Sweden has been a haven for deserters from the U.S. military services for several years now. Her leaders have been openly hostile to U.S. policy in Vietnam—more so than-even some Communist countries. Her present prime minister, Olaf Palme, once walked arm in arm down the streets of Stockholm with a North Vietnamese official during an anti-U.S. rally.

Newsweek, which is not noted for its conservative viewpoint, nevertheless told a little about the current climate in Sweden when it stated:

"A good many Swedes, as well as American Black Panthers now living in Sweden, already are calling the U.S. Embassy in Stockholm 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' "

Strategically speaking, Sweden has little to offer the U.S. She has no rare natural resources and no vital industrial products that this country needs.

And from the historic point of view, there's no particular reason the United States should be currying Sweden's favor either. During World War II, while Hitler's armies ravaged and plundered practically all of Europe, the Swedes sat by aloofly in their neutrality and let others make all the sacrifices. They had done the same in World War I. This is the country with whom President Richard Nixon now seems so bent on restoring amicable relations. Meanwhile, he slams the door in the face of Rhodesia, which has so much to offer the U.S., by closing the American consulate there and thus severing diplomatic relations. This is the same Rhodesia which has impressively repelled every attempt at Communist infiltration from neighboring Zambia . . . the same Rhodesia which has offered to send a contingent of troops to fight the Reds in Vietnam . . . the same Rhodesia which has vast stores of raw materials so vitally needed in the manufacture of U.S. defense weapons . . . the same Rhodesia which would be so willing to sell those materials to the United States and eliminate our dependence on the Soviet Union for them. Yet, because Great Britain—herself a stumbling, groping shadow of a once great nation—asks us to boycott Rhodesia, we willingly do so. And what does Great Britain do in return?

Well, for one thing she sent 74 ships to North Vietnam, with whom some would say we are at war, during 1969. For another, she allowed 50 of her ships to unload cargo in Cuba, against whom we supposedly have an economic boycott. One of the nation's most prestigious business forecasters is now predicting that Republican gains in this fall's House and Senate races will be minimal. Six months ago the outlook had been quite rosy. Charades such as the one President Nixon is now allowing to be acted out with regard to Sweden and Rhodesia are a prime reason.

Rationing of Driving Time Proposed As Answer to Nation's Crowded Roads

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I recollect a story they said made the rounds back when cars were first being sold in this coun-

Fy.
Some feller was watching a car owner try to crank his fliver and he allowed, "He'll never get the fool thing to go." When the driver got it started the feller watched the car roll off in a cloud of dust and then perdicted, "He'll never get the dern thing stopped."

Well, sir, the session at the country store Saturday night was like that story, and it dealt with the same subject.

The fellers got started when Felix Gregoroski said he had heard some guy say on the radio that there were five times more cars in this country than in the rest of the world put together, and the only way fer Americans to have enough room fer their cars was to park 'em overseas.
Felix allowed cars got this country moving, and it looks like they are going to run it ragged. Cars now are being blamed fer overwhing from air relution to everything from air polution to unemployment. Felix said from listening to some politicians you would think that all we need to do to clean up this country is come out with a car that gives off clean exhaust.

It is true, allowed Felix, that we ain't been able to get the car stopped, and that automobiles have choked the cities and are working on the country. Fer instance, we got them branch banks, branch stores, and what looks like whole towns outside of towns just so folks can have a towns just so folks can have a place to park.

"Nobody will drive into big cities when they can get everthing they want in them towns that have built up around parking lots," were Felix's words.

John Paprocki agreed with Felix that cars have got a now. Felix that cars have got a powerful grip on the people and the economy of this country, but he was of a mind that they're just

John said there are too many folks trying to get from one place to another at the same time. He said he had studied the problem up one side and down the other, and he had the answer.

What we got to do, allowed John, is adopt the Alphebetical Assignment Transportation Plan. Assignment Transportation Plan. He is still working on the fine points of the plan, but he has got it figured to where we can group folks by the letter that begins their last names and assign days fer them to travel. That way, if we had four groups, then we would just have a fourth of the people on the road every of the people on the road every day.

John would give everybody a travel days in few emergency travel days in a year fer cases of sickness and

Personally, Mister Editor, I like John's plan. You hear they use it at ball games where there ain't room fer everybody; and hospitals must use it cause a hos-pital with 100 beds and 120 patients has got to have somebody up walking around all the time. Yours truly,

Up on the Roof Tops

AJIJIC, Mexico-Even life on the rooftops is different here, on these curved red tiles in Ajijic (say Ah-hee-HEEK').

By the way, did you know these tiles were curved originally by molding them over a woman's thight? Your sex news for

Only a few years ago the big old night watchman here stalked along the rooftops to watch for prowlers, clomping from one roof to the next. All the roofs adjoin, after one fashion or an-

This posada (inn) is one-story, built onto time after time. The only two-story room is used for washing clothes and string-ing them up!

Living on the roof are several cat families.

I don't mind when they pussyfoot quietly around. BUT, when they fight, chase one another, make love, etc., I could do without their mewing and yowling. Of course their footfalls are very light, but only a tiny creak of the roof gives them away. Once in a while a mouse family moves in overhead. As the roofs are only reed mats laid on rafters with red tile atop

Rows of azaleas are a foot high, though the bulbs are only just planted. We spend two years to get a head of big flowers; but these will bloom in, say, three weeks from now, gorgeously.

"Fishpoles" grow gracefully—very tall. Bamboo grows fast, and they use if for everything here. Many flowers here are the same as Hawaii has. There's the big Cup of Gold tree, with its large creamy blossoms that are fresh for one day only. And the huge croton or "beefsteak" plant is so colorful. The tall tulip trees thick with red flowers grow everywhere, and oleanders are in flower. Bougainvillea vines are so bright and gay and many colored. Geraniums get four or five feet tall and bloom like crazy. And roses and calla lilies are in blossom too.

Mexicans love flowers, stick one in anywhere.

Laos Must Have Ground Help To Repel Invasion, U.S. Advisors Warn

By Paul Scott WASHING -TON — More than massive United States air power will be needed to stop the second phase of North Vietnam's spring offensive in Laos.

American bombing, including further B-52 attacks, can slow the Communist advance when it starts again next month. But such bombing cannot halt the advance; only the intervention of American or Thail ground forces can do that.

This is the dark heart of a blunt warning that U.S. military officials in Laos included in their most recent intelligence estimate of Hanoi's military intentions and capabilities. Their explosive estimate, now being studied by President Richard Nixon, confirms reports that the main body of the 65,000 North Vietnamese troops in Laos is re-grouping on the western edge of the Blain of Jars for a new offensive drive.

Immediate objective of the coming Communist drive is believed to be the 1961 cease-fire line along the Like River, 50 miles south of the point where North Vietnamese troops are now reorganizing

Should this military goal be reached, North Vietnam's advance forces would be within 50 miles of Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos. It would also put them in a position to cut also put them in a position to cut the main highway between Vien-tiane and the Royal capital, Lunang Prabang.

This military advance would give North Vietnam's puppets, the Pathet Lao, the trump card in any future negotiations with the Laotian government.

It would also provide them with a big chunk of territory formerly held by the old neutralist faction in Laos. This would put the Communists in a position to demand more seats in the government cabinet, and by extension a coalition government more friendly to them.

Strategic Objective By forcing Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma to accept most of their terms for a new coalition regime, Hanoi believes it can obtain an important strategic objective — the halt of U.S. bombing along the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The trail, a series of roads in eastern Laos, is now North Vietnam's main infiltration route into South Vietnam.

Latest U.S. intelligence reports show that the North Vietnamese are hurting seriously from around-the-clock American air așsaults against this vital supply route,

A combination of improved intelligence, electronic sensing devices, and heavy B-52 attacks with growing accuracy has made the Ho Chi Minh Trail the most dangerous road in the world. A halt of U.S. air attacks now would greatly endanger Presi-dent Nixon's Vietnamization program, since it would give the North Vietnamese a new sanc-tuary from which to attack South Vietnamese forces now taking over the defense of Saigon.

In sizing up the present military situation on the ground in

Laos, the Joint Chicfs of Staff have told the President that the

60,000 man Royal Laotian Army is not considered much of a deter-

The government's most effective fighting force — the 15,000-man "clandestine army" under Maj. Gen. Vang Pao, trained and supported by the Central Intelligence Agency — consists mostly of guerrillas and is not intended to fight a defensive war. Yet it is precisely this force which mans a major portion of the current government defense

Phou Khoun located to the west of Muong Soul, to Tha Thou, southeast of the Plain of Jars. Thailand Is Ready President Nixon, from all available evidence, has decided against committing American ground forces to Laos, But Thai-land will, if asked to do so by line in northern Laos, stretching in an arc over 90 miles from Sala the Laotian government. The Thai government already has moved several thousand troops to near the Laotian border. This combat force is being readied to move into Laos on request, or if North Vietnam tries to take the capital city of spring offensive, will risk this confrontation with Thailand is a question now being debated by President Nixon's advisers.

The possibility has caused the President to ask the Joint Chiefs of Staff for their recommendations on what type of military help the U.S. should give Thai forces if they become involved in the Laotian conflict.

Pakistan's New Role Pakistan is increasing its role in the Middle East crisis.

Pakistani pilots being sent to Jordan to train King Hussein's air force are being given per-mission to fly combat missions against Israel. In addition, volunteers for combat duty in Jordan are now being recruited from active service officers trained at Pakistan's military academy in Kakul and the Risalpur flying

Although this arrangement with Jordan is now informal, it is expected to be formalized when King Hussein visits Pakistani President Yahya Khan soon to discuss additional aid. Pakistan has always taken a militant pro-Arab stand in the Arab-Israeli conflict, but this is the first time that Pakistani pilots on any large scale have been permitted to join in the active defense of Arab nations.

Libyan officials also have asked Pakistan to help in the train-ing of pilots for the Mirage fighter-bombers France is selling that nation. Pakistan has a squadron of Mirage 3 fighter-bombers and nearly 100 pilots checked out in them.

In Saudi Arabia, Pakistanis train pilots and ground crews and are doing group maintenance work with one or more Saudi Air Force groups. One company of Pakistani ground troops now in Jordan operates the anti-aircraft weapons at Jordan's main air base, Israeli diplomats in Washington say their government is aware of the presence of Pakistani pilots in Jordan and their new mission. They would not reveal what counter action, if any, Israel plans.

"On The Farm Service"

Paul declares that nothing can separate us from the love of Christ. It has been so from Paul to Marian Anderson. Countless men and women have found, in Christ's love and in their faith, a way up and out and around. When the going gets tough we can at least dedicate what is left to God. For he can lead us in ways past finding out. Even our mishaps and setbacks may be

"When The Going Gets Jough"

"In all these things we are more than conquerors s through him that loves us." (Romans 8:37)

Marian Anderson's father died when she was twelve. There were many bitter struggles during those early years. Her first public concert at Town Hall was a failure. The young singer yowed she would never sing again. She was completely undone. Then Miss Anderson's mother persuaded her to pray about it and to dedicate her voice to God. Only then did she want to sing again. Said she, "Failure, and frustration are in the unsuritien pages of everyone's record. I have had my share of written pages of everyone's record. I have had my share of them. But . . . the faith my mother taught me is my foundation . . . Whatever is in my voice, my faith has put it there."

used of God to our good and his glory.

"O God, even in times of trial and distress, Make us more than conquerors in Christ. Let us be more than conquerors and rise up anew and take our lives forward with you. Amen

'A petition was presented signed by Bernard D. Staab, Margaret Lilian Auble and 116 others, reading as follows:

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebras-ka:

of submitting to the qualified electors of said City the following proposition:

"Shall the City of Ord, Nebraska issue its negotiable bonds of the principal amount of not to exceed Four Hundred Eighty Thousand Dollars ($480,000) for the purpose of purchasing real estate and constructing and equipping a building for nursing home purposes, said bonds to be dated and become due and payable, both principal and interest, on such date or dates as may be fixed by the City Council at the time of their issuance and to bear interest at such rate or rates as shall be determined by the City Council; and

"Shall the City cause to be levied annually a special levy of taxes by valuation on all the taxable property in said City sufficient in rate and amount to pay the interest and principal of said bonds, as and when such interest and principal become due?"

The Council having examined said petition and canvassed the signatures thereto and having examined the poll books used returned at the last regular municipal election prior to the presenting of such petition, the following resolution was offered by Councilman Osentowski, who moved its adoption:

RESOLUTION

The Mayor and Council having investigated and checked the signa-

RESOLUTION

The Mayor and Council having investigated and checked the signatures of the petition for legality and having deemed that 118 valid signatures appearing on the petition proposing the acquisition of real estate presented on the 2nd day of March, 1970 and the council constitutes more than 10% of the votes cast in said City voting for Governor at the last election prior to presenting such petition, be it therefore resolved that the City Clerk shall cause notice of the time and place of said election as required by law in such cases made and provided.

You breed 'em or buy 'em, farrow 'em, baby 'em, castrate 'em, cuss 'em, worm 'em, love 'em and sell 'em... but if you haven't jed 'em properly...forget'em!

Checked your net feeding profits lately? It's important ... especially after all the work it takes to raise hogs or feed cattle. Even with good prices, your extra profit comes from feeding formulas that lower your cost of production . . . "flexible" formulas like Occo's "Pig to Payoff" or "Bigger Beef Bonus", programs. Top hog and cattle men swear by 'em! Just a little Occo in your feedlot now will s-t-r-e-t-c-h your feed dollar ... and pay real dividends at market time.

Deluge of Filings Breaks Candidate Drought: Seven to Seek School Posts, Ten City Council Jobs After a famine in 1969, ord of candidates and the at-large sity voters will feast during this yestern of voting, the District 5 as they got their names on the became evident last week when the most interesting in the April Christensen, Don Blaha. City Council, 3rd Ward — Very stock as the only candidate for the most interesting in the April City Council, 3rd Ward — Very stock as the only candidate for the most interesting in the April City Council, 3rd Ward — Very stock as the only candidate for the most interesting in the April year's municipal elections. That became evident last week when seven new filings fattened what had once been a rather slim list of candidates for the five city and two school board positions that will be voted on next month, Elsewhere around Valley

County, the pace was not so hectic in the final hours preceding Friday's 5 p.m. filing deadline. But it still was brisk enough to insure at least one candidate for every office in the county, and to give voters a choice for most of them.

City and village elections will be held Apr. 7, and the county election May 12. Where there are candidates for the same county office from two political parties, a runoff will be held in November.

Under the caucus system of selecting candidates which was used for last year's elections, there was only one nominee in Ord for each city and school board position that was voted on. This year the Nebraska State Legislature did away with the caucus system and replaced it with one in which candidates may file on their own without acquiring the approval of any individual or group.

After a slow start, filings under the new system turned from a trightle into a terrent during a trickle into a torrent during the last two weeks. The result in Ord is seven candidates for two school board posts that will be filled, and 10 candidates for three City Council positions that will be the most interesting in the April elections. Latest additions to the seven-man field are Dean Bresley and Roland Norman. They join Wilbert Calvin, Ed Rajewich, and Dr. Murray Markley in challenging the two incumbents — Drs. Dale Karre and Otis Miller.

Because of the sheer number

City Attorney Leonard Cronk
said Monday that as far as he knows there is no provision in state statutes for a runoff, since school board members are elected on a non-political basis. He said that in his opinion the two candidates receiving the greatest number of votes on Apr. 7 will be

Mayor Bill French echoed that opinion but said he would seek a definite ruling from the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

A runoff, if it were legal, might also be in order for the three City Council positions to be voted on. For the Ward I seat being vacated by Merle VanZandt, there are three candidates; for the Ward II post now held by the Ward II post now held by Ed Christensen, there are four; and for the Ward III post now occupied by Starting Lee, there

Voters will be scratching their heads most in Ward II, which for several weeks had the only contested City Council race. Christensen, the incumbent, and Don Blaha announced their candidacies soon after the filing period opened. Then last week they were joined by Charlie Kriewald (Sr.) and Marv Scheideler.

Ward III also had two new ballot just before the deadline. The third entry in this race is Verlin Smith.

No new candidates were entered last week in Ward I, which already had three aspirants. They are L. E. (Sac) Walford, Gaylord Boilesen, and Ray Marshall

Maynard Collier filled the only previously vacant place on the city ballot when he filed last week for police magistrate. Mrs. Frances McCall, the incumbent, submitted her immediate resignation from the job Monday. She cited other pressing work as the reason for her resignation.

Sheriff Draws Double Fire

A number of significant filings were also made at the county level last week. Clarence E. Fox, the present sheriff, became the only full-time county employee seeking re-election to draw opposition when Logan Maring and Kenneth Pey-ton, both of North Loup, filed on the Republican ticket. Fox also has filed as a Republican; thus, the issue will be decided for good on May 12 when the primary is held.

Like Collier on the city ballot Edmund Huffman filled the last completely blank spot on the county slate when he filed last week for the office of part-time county superintendent. The posi-tion is non-political; therefore, mocratic convention.

In the four races for county supervisor, there'll be two threeman contests and two one-man bouts, Kenneth Collins completed the slate of supervisor candidates last week when he filed as a Republican for the District 1 job now held by Democrat Bill Tuma, Don Papiernik had also filed on the Republican ticket, so the top vote-getter between him and Col-lins in the May primary will op-pose Tuma in the November general election

The other supervisor races shape up like this:

District 3 — Henry Benda (R), Leon Klanecky (R), Duane Carson (R).

District 5 — Ray Knapp (R).

District 7 — Kenneth Dorsey

Also filing last week was Emanuel Petska of Elyria, for the position of county surveyor. Petska, the incumbent, is a Democrat.

Democrat.
One filing was rejected by the secretary of state's office in Lincoln because it reached there after the 5 p.m. Friday deadline. That was the one made by Dorothy Bredthauer of Ord, who was seeking an at-large spot on the Board of Directors for Educational Service Unit 10

al Service Unit 10.
County Clerk Thelma Dulitz said Tuesday that because the service unit covers more than one county, filings for it were required to be in the Statehouse at Lincoln prior to the deadline. For single-county offices they needed to be only at the local courthouse.

Village Voters Get to Choose

Although lighter than in Ord, there'll also be some competition in Valley County's three villages - Arcadia, Elyria, and North Arcadia boasts the largest number of office-seekers among the villages, with four residents prepared to serve on the town's Board of Trustees and three ready to sit on the District 21 Board of Education. There are three vacancies on the village board and two on the school board.

Joining incumbents Bill Sahlie, Max Marco, and Francis Shultz as candidates for the village board is Keith Luedtke.

Shultz is a newcomer to the board himself, having been ap-pointed this month to fill the remaining portion of Anton Nel-son's term. Nelson's resignation was accepted at the same meet-ing at which Shultz was appoint-

Pay Hikes for Ord School Teachers To Average 8 Percent

Salary raises averaging approximately 8 percent were approved for teachers in the Ord School System at the March meeting of the District 5 Board of Education. The rate structure was worked out in six informal negotiating sessions between the school board's Finance Committee headed by Dr. Dale Karre and a committee of teachers chaired by Johnny Hyde.

"As a group the teachers are not happy," Hyde stated after negotiations had been complet-ed. "However, we took into account the current financial situation of the board—how it's trying to pay for a new school building and all—and we agreed to these rates. Many of the teachers would have preferred to negotiate more, though."

Hyde said the teachers will not vote as a group to accept or reject the new pay package, as they did an earlier set of proposals. Instead, each individual teacher may reject on his own any new contract offer. Specifically, the final package calls for a raise in the base salary of all teachers with at least a bachelor's degree to $6,300. It had been $6,100. The new contracts will also offer a 5 percent addition to the basic salary for each year of teaching experience up to a bachelor's degree, again up to a point.

For example, a new teacher with only a bachelor's degree and no previous experience will receive the straight $6,300. A teacher with a bachelor's and one year of experience will receive $6,615; a teacher with a bachelor's degree and from nine to 17 hours of credit beyond that, but with no previous experience, will receive $6,552; that, but with no previous experience, will receive $6,552; and a teacher with a bachelor's and nine to 17 hours of additional credit, plus a year's experience, will receive $6,867.

The change in steps represents an increase of 1 percent vertically (number of years ex-college credit beyond the bach-elor's degree).

The school board committee countered with an original offer of $6,200 base and step in

Dr. Karre, in explaining his committee's position, said he felt taxpayers were more concerned than in previous years, partially as a result of the new grade school building.

Arcadia Girls Win First Volleyball Crown

For the first time in the history of Arcadia High School, the volleyball team has taken home the Central Nebraska Conference championship tro-

The team started the season slowly, losing four of its first five games — but came on strong toward the end, finishing with a record of 9 wins and 6 losses losses.

The conference tournament took place at Elba on Mar. 2, 3, and 5. Arcadia beat Litchfield the first night, top-seeded Wolbach the next night, and second-seeded Elba the final night.

In the championship contest Arcadia won by a score of 15-8. Elba, however, came back to win the next set by that same 15-8 score. Both sets lacked only a few seconds of lasting the time limit of eight minutes.
The third set turned out to be the best. Arcadia started out with a decisive lead of 8-3, but after the teams switched courts halfway through the set, Elba came back to tie it at 8-8. The set continued with the teams trading points one or two at a time, until the clock ran out with the score tied at 15-15.

Since a set must be won by take a 16-15 lead.

Mrs. Virginia Trotter, the Arcadia coach, then made a big decision. She sent in Sandy Giles to serve. After a few more breath-taking moments Sandy's two points, the thrilling match third serve went over and the continued. Ela scored first to score read 18-16, Arcadia's fa-

Questions and Answers on the Proposed Ord Nursing Home

Q. IS A NURSING HOME NEEDED IN ORD, NEBRASKA?

A. At the present time, the hospital is taking care of many individuals who could be transferred to a nursing home. In addition, many local residents have been placed in homes away from Ord because present facilities were too full. If a nursing home is not provided for Ord it is possible we may have to add to the hospital since space for the critically ill is being occupied by older citizens needing skilled nursing home services. They must receive this care either in a hospital or in a nursing home. Yes. We need a nursing home in Ord!

Q. WHY A MUNICIPAL HOME INSTEAD OF A PRIVATE HOME?

Ord is one of the most prosperous communities in the area. Why private capital has not provided a nursing home for Ord by now, we do not know. It has been discussed many times in the past few years. We do know that we have all waited until costs have risen to a point that makes it questionable whether, or not, our older citizens living on a fixed income could afford to utilize the services of a modern nursing home under private ownership. For example, it is estimated that the base room rate for city ownership would be $8 per day for a double room. Under private ownership, the cost would be $10.53 per day showing only a reasonable profit to the investor.

It is not your fault, or mine, nor can it be blamed on private ownership. The basic difference is taxes, Federal and state, because your local city taxes are only a small per cent of the tax load borne by any company today. We feel that our elderly need a nursing home, not the problem of showing a profit.

Q. IS IT NECESSARY TO VOTE THIS LARGE A BOND?

It was felt that this amount would enable the city to build a modern nursing home which would meet our needs for 65 to 70 beds and to properly equip it without any further request to the citizens of Ord. You can be assured that your City Council will not spend dollars unless they receive full value from the expenditure. If there is any excess, at the end of the project, it will be used to reduce the bonded indebtedness.

A nursing home such as the one proposed for Ord, Nebraska has cost other communities from $650,000 to $950,000. The consultants that your Chamber of Commerce has used for reference and the one they have visited with, have provided identical facilities in other Nebraska localities through public bids. These consultants have been successful in helping small Nebraska communities secure modern nursing homes at very reasonable costs.

Q. WHO WILL OPERATE THE HOME IF THE CITY OWNS IT?

The management problem will be decided by the City Council's nursing home committee if the community votes for it. They can either secure local management or they may engage a non-profit group to manage the home. This will be their decision. We are certain they will consider that which is in the best interest for all of us.

Q. NOTHING IS FREE ANYMORE! HOW MUCH WILL THIS RAISE MY TAXES?

The nursing home is being planned to be self-supporting. However, the City Council normally will set a mill levy to be used by the nursing home, if needed. This will vary and could be from several mills, or the home could show a profit to the city after the first year. The City Council has the power to adjust rates to accomplish this if they feel it will be beneficial to the community. Basically, however, we should be able to say, the nursing home will be selfsupporting if we want it to be.

CONSIDER THIS:

During February Valley County had 11 welfare patients in nursing homes outside the county. The cost for maintaining these patients is $2,550 monthly. To pay this, the Social Security checks of each patient are garnished and all the money therein—except $10 per patient—is applied against the bill. That still leaves $2,182.80 that has to be paid from Valley County welfare funds. The Valley County Hospital charges $15.50 a day for patients in the chronic care (long-term) ward, or $465 a month for a 30-day month. There are presently 7 patients in the hospital that fall in this category, but there have been as many as 15 at one time.

State Law allows a maximum of $300 per month in w elfare payments to nursing homes for each patient. If those patients presently in the hospital could be transferred to a n ursing home—and some of them could if one were available -there would be at least a savings of $165 per patient per month ($465 present cost in hospital minus $300 cost in a nursing home). This would mean a minimum savings of $1,980 per patient per year—savings in tax dollars for you!

Like Mary's Little Lamb

According to the nursery rhyme, Mary had a little lamb which followed her to school one day. Here in Ord one of the high school teachers, Fred Shores, has a dog which follows him to school—quite frequently. "Kuda's been going to school for about two years now," Shores said Thursday. That day the dog, a "border Collie," climbed up on the hood of the Shores automobile and waited patiently for the end of the school day and his master's, return. Some times Kuda's patience is not so enduring, the teacher said,

Q: Have surveys been conducted to determine how many people will use this nursing home?

A: No, but national statistics indicate that a certain percentage of people over 60 will normally need full-time care. According to the contract of the contra mally need full-time care. According to government figures, this ratio is 44.4 persons per thousand. In 1960 Valley County had 1,402 residents above 60 years of age. The number has undoubtedly risen since then, but even using the 1960 figures at least 62 persons—if Valley County is an average county—need nursing-home care. This is full—time nursing care, not board and room such as that offered in some homes. Furthermore, Valley County is probmore, Valley County is probably not an average county since the percentage of elderly

Classes at the high school were dismissed at 2:30 p.m. yesterday and won't resume until 8:50 a.m. next Wednesday.

Normany the Easter vacation here involves only two days off from school. However, Dr. William Gogan said Monday that classes were begun two days early last fall in order to give students and teachers a bigger break at Easter time.

"It's a long time from Christmas till the end of school, with very few holidays in that stretch," the superintendent stated. "Teachers and students both seem to need a good vacation this time of year."

Dr. Gogan also explained that the extra-long break would permit families who wish to go out of town for the holiday to do so without having to rush home for the beginning of school on Monday morning.

Huffman's Filing Voided By Valley County Clerk

term. Such a joint arrangement is legal under state law provided the boards of supervisors in both counties concur.

Huffman's candidacy was rejected because he does not possess a certificate valid for administration in all elementary and secondary schools of Nebraska. Mrs. Dulitz said she had checked with Cecil Stanley, state commissioner of education, and he had confirmed that Huffman does not qualify. In a letter to the county clerk, Stanley wrote:

Proposed Home Designed for Efficiency, Safety, Beauty

mum efficiency, safety, and beauty is being planned if Ord voters approve a new nursing home at their Apr. 7 election.

Plans for the home, as presented by Nursing Home Builders Inc. of Broken Bow, call for a colonial-style brick building of "crow-foot" design, capable of handling 65 patients. However, C. M. Johansen, vice-president of the Broken Bow firm, said plans can easily be adapted so the building can handle ed so the building can handle up to 72 patients and still remain within the $480,000 that the voters will pass judgment on. He said the Ord City Council has not made a definite decision as to whether it prefers the larger or smaller structure.

With the crow-foot design the building will have four wings all converging on a central core. Three of the wings will contain rooms for patients, while the fourth will contain a kitchen and diving and dining room, therapy room, laundry room, and various utility and storage areas.

A major advantage of this type design, Johansen said, is that length of hallways can be held to 100 feet or less. With a 72-bed facility, the farthest room will not be over 70 feet from the nursing station in the from the nursing station in the center of the building, he ex-building to another.

The closer all rooms are to the center core, the more efficient will be the operation of the home, Johansen stated, since less time will be spent by nurses and other aides in walking to and from the various rooms.

Efficient design leads to low bed costs and operating costs," he stated, "and that in turn leads to lower patient rates."

The 65 beds would be located in 32 double bedrooms and one isolation room.

one isolation room.

Johansen said he recommended such a large percentage of double rooms because older people usually find after a short period that they want more companionship than they originally felt they would.

"Ninety percent of the occupants in a nursing home think

Furthermore, he explained, any patient who desires a private room and can afford it can

"You can always take one bed out of a double room and convert it into a single room," he stated, "but you can't put a second bed in a single room and make it into a double."

All bedrooms will have private half-baths, Johansen added.

The following is a complete list of rooms that will be in-

"You can change an ordinary nursing home into a truly beautiful one for $5,000," Johansen

Safety, too, is an integral part of the home's design. For instance, fire protection devices will be located in each room, and if a fire is detected all other wings in the building can be sealed off.

Practically all building materials will be fire-resistant, Johansen added, but said that "will not prevent Grandpa from setting his bed afire if he tries to light his pipe in bed."

All windows will be 36 inches from the ground and of double size so that, if necessary, patients can get out or be helped out through them.

Special furnishings that take

Special furnishings that take into account safety and convenience to patients will also be used. Johansen stated. For instance, all chairs will have arms so that elderly people can use them for support in rising, and tables will be of the type that have no bands on the underside or center pedestals for support. Tables without bands are nec-essary, Johansen explained, to permit the arms of wheelchairs to go underneath the tops and allow patients to get as close allow patients to get as close to the tables as necessary. Ta-bles supported by center pedes-tals have a tendency to tip over when patients lean on them, he added. On miscellaneous topics, Jo-

Homemade Bomb Ruins Mailbox At Koelling Farm

Valley County Sheriff Clarence Fox has confirmed that a homemade bomb was used to blow up a mail box belonging to Orel Koelling of rural Ord.

Fox said a definite determination as to the type of explosive used will not be available until laboratory tests are completed. However, he feels now pleted. However, he feels now that the bomb probably contain-ed potassium chloride and sugar.

The explosive was apparently placed inside an empty beer can which was then sealed with plastic aluminum or automobile body putty. Scraps from the can, the plastic or putty, and of newspaper were found at the scene. A fuse was also discovscene. A fuse was also discovered.

Fox said the bomb contained no timing device, so it had to have gone off shortly after being placed in the box. It was not rigged to explode when the box was opened or anything of that nature, he reported.

The explosion apparently happened sometime Sunday night. It was reported to the sheriff Monday morning.

It was reported to the sheriff Monday morning.
"Our biggest concern is that this type of thing doesn't turn into a mishap like that which occurred recently at Norfolk," Sheriff Fox stated, referring to the electrocution of three youngsters who were shooting at power line insulators.

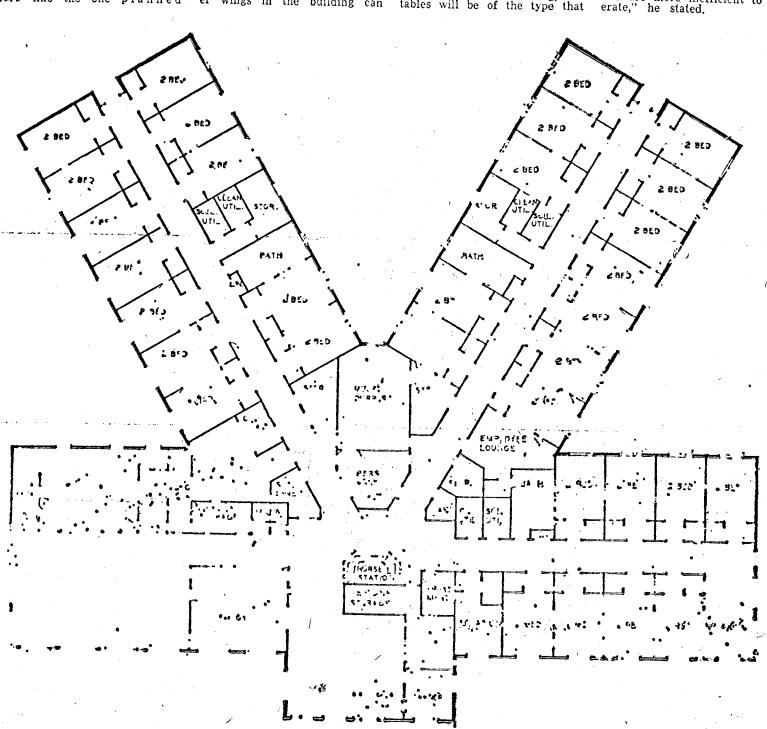

Contrary to local rumor, the Federal Bureau of Investigation will not be called into the affair, Fox said. However, the incident does fall within the jurisdiction of federal postal authorities, he said, and an irspector from Grand Island is expected to investigate.

Leave it to a boy to find the deepest, wettest puddle to play in. As the temperature strove to reach the thaw mark on the first day of spring Friday, Randy Hawk of Ord parked his bicycle and went wading. He said afterwards that the water was still "plenty cold."

In the study and discussion sessions, special emphasis was placed on the importance of being able to communicate and work with the families of the alcoholic; that alcoholism is a disease, and by educating the public along these lines the stigma of the problem can be removed, thus making it easier to reach the alcoholic and the alcoholic's family. Mr. North also pointed out that one is not helping the alcoholic by covering up for his wrongdoings — that instead help will come to the sufferer and his family when the problem is realized and they learn to accept the fact that help is needed.

New City Electrical Rates Okayed; Changes Are Termed 'Very Minor'

A new set of electrical rates, the first since 1961, was approved by the Ord City Council at its March meeting. The rates will be effective for the current billing period.

"The changes are actually very minor," Lynn Chichester said Tuesday in explaining the new rate structure.

new rate structure.

Chichester, a member of the Power Board, said the city is converting to a computer billing system and had to make some adjustments in the old rate structure in order to fit the computer format. While they were making those changes, he said, members of the Power Board also compared local rates, with these compared local rates, with those of other Central Ne-braska communities of compar-able size and tried to bring them in line.

Another action taken by the City Council—the passing of a resolution directing that sales taxes be collected on electrical sales—will affect most users more than will any change in the rate structure, Chichester added. However, increases re-sulting from this action will be slight too, he explained.

In the past the city has collected no state sales tax from lected no state sales tax from individual users but has paid the tax out of its own receipts. Electrical users who were not required to pay the tax—such as the Valley County Hospital, local churches and schools—received a comparable discount. Now the tax will be collected from everyone not otherwise exempt, and those users who are exempt will be required to pay exempt will be required to pay their full bills.

Since the sales tax is only 2½ percent, Chichester said that in most cases this change will increase billings by only a few contageach most by the sales who had been to be sales as the change will increase billings by only a few contageach most by the sales who had been to be sales as the sales who had been to be sales as the sales who had been to be sales as the sales who had been to be sales as the sales who had been to be sales as the sales who had been to be sales as the sales are the cents each month. For instance, on a $12 bill it would result in a 30-cent increase, and on a $20 bill it would cause a 50-cent it will result in an approximate savings to the city of $5,000 over the course of a year, Chichester stated.

Affected most by the actual rate increases will be those residents or businesses that have electrically powered hot water heaters or electrical heating systems for an entire building. Specifically, here is the way the new structure differs from

Replacement Trees Will Be Distributed To County Residents

Almost 800 tree seedlings have been ordered for distribution to Valley County residents in April.

John Schade, county Extension agent, said the seedlings are intended to replace large numbers of elm trees that the area is expected to lose because of disease.

"Control of Dutch elm disease is difficult at best and will become more so now that the use of DDT for controlling it has been forbidden by the government," Schade stated recently. Trees will be given free to home owners, farmers, and even tenant residents, the county agent said. However, only three will be allotted per family.

The project is a joint venture

The project is a joint venture of the Valley County Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service, Larry Barber, Ex-tension forester at the Univer-sity of Nebraska, is also cooper-

Nursing Home Questions and Answers . . .

Q: Why shouldn't this be a county issue rather than a city to stay in a nursing home, which many could not afford anyhow.

Q: Won't this $480,000 be a direct obligation on the taxpayers of Ord?

A: Yes, but it's up to the City Council, which will have controlling authority over the home, to see that the rate per patient is kept high enough to cover costs. The home, if it's like most others, should have no difficulty after the first year in paying its own way. If costs increase, it's up to the City Council to raise rates accordingly. It's foolish to build a nursing home and then turn around and have the community subsidize it with a mill levy. It's just good common business sense to adjust rates as costs go up.

Q: What will this do for the economy of Ord?

A: An estimated 28 to 30 job opportunities will; be created for local residents. These employees will be the kind of people that work with their hands—and therefore probably the type who will spend the money in town, for groceries, clothing, perhaps education for their children. The anticipated payroll for these people is $114,000 roll for these people is $114,000 per year. Statistics indicate that this money would change hands five times in the local commu-nity, but even if it were only four times it would mean circulation of an additional $460,000 over the course of a year. This would be in addition to money spent locally by the nursing home itself, such as for food, utilities, etc.

Q: How much cheaper would a public home be than a private home, and why? A: It is estimated that the base room rate for city owner-ship will be $8 per day for a double room (the base rate does not cover special nursing services that the ordinary patient would not need). Under private ownership the cost would be $10.53 per day showing only a reasonable profit to the investor. The cost of borrowing money is a principal reason for this. In today's tight money market, many private investors must pay 9 percent or more on construction loans, General obligation bonds will allow the city to raise this money at the lowest possible rate—a maximum of 7 percent. Q: What would be required to have a private nursing home?

A: Citizens of Ord or some other community would have to raise a minimum of $90,000 on their own. Then those citizens, whoever they might be, would

A: Many rural people would oppose this arrangement be-cause they feel the citizens of Ord proper will benefit most from a new nursing home. They would feel, and rightly so, that if county people use the nurs-ing home they will pay for the services they get. On the other hand, because of the increase in money turn-over, many citizens of the city itself will profit even if they or their relatives don't use the home direct-

Q: What about people who would like to furnish a room? A: That will be perfectly permissible. The money saved thereby can be used to reduce the bonded indebtedness.

Beware of Soil Aides; Test Your Product First

By John Schade

Soil conditioners are not recommended as a means of improving crop yields and obtaining top production. In ဳ these days of prices, farmers are urged to spend their fertilizer dollars only on fertilizer needs that will improve crop yields and profits.

Nitrogen and phosphorus are the principal nutrients needed for maximum yields on most soils in this area. The use of zine is also profitable if soil tests show a deficency of this element.

added - along with proper crop rotation, adequate water supplied through irrigation, farm manure, and the use of recommended cultural practices and recommended crop varieties — maximum yields can be obtained obtained

Then why use soil conditioners? This question has puzzled agricultural specialists for some time. Probably the influencing factor has been high-pressure selling tactics.

Farmers should beware of products that are newly discovered and contain secret ingredients — ingredients that operate by the action of some mysterious forces: magnetism, catalytic action, activation, release, enzyme processes, and the like all described in "scientific" language.

If your are tempted to buy or use a product that is sup-posed to work miracles, time, money, and disappointment may be saved by taking the following steps:

(1) Don't decide in a hurry. Consult your county extension agent, banker, or fertilizer dealthe product.

. (2) Have your soils tested to determine if you actually need the product.

(3) After careful consideration, buy just enough to treat a small portion of your farm — less than an acre.

If the product is as good as the salesman wants you to be-lieve, it will be available next year for you to use and rake in the profits. If it isn't good, you will be glad you tried on

Discussion of Hunger in Nebraska Draws Varied Opinions as to Extent

By Melvin Paul Stalehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Assn.
LINCOLN — Hungry nebraskan made the headlines last week. Although many officials small compared with other states, others speaking at the Governor's Conference on the Elimination of Hunger complained about the administration of food stamps and other welfare programs.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann said the object of the conference was to determine the extent of the state hunger problem and to reassess exisiting programs.

A series of official and unofficial speakers said changes are needed before every Nebraskan can be assured of a balanced goes all the way down to walking. "There is no such adjustment possible within the private food industry today in the United States," McCaw said.

"The millionaire's wife at the supermarket buys the same kind of milk, the same kind of eggs, the same kind of vegetables, and the same kind of fruits, in the main, as does the person who wants to have a balanced diet and has but $5 a week to spend. "The adjustments come in the quality of meat, the quality of eggs, the quality of milk. But, in a sense, they are buying from the same supermarket at the same prices.' McCaw said families faced by hunger seek out alternate foods, which may or may not have nutrient value. These, he said, usually are high in starches and Thomas of Doane College, in the carbohydrates, "so at least the stomach is filled — and the family is deluded into thinking it is eating well."

Tiemann said the conference was called as a result of a similar meeting on the national level held recently by President Richard Nixon.

"I appeal today to all public officials," Tiemann said, "to be sensitive and responsive to those people who do not have the means or the opportunity to be heard, as most of us do.

"I urge you all to be especially thoughtful to those people, so that they are not made to feel that they have come before us on their knees to get some of the basic needs for which they qual-ify under the law."

Morrison Joins

Senate Race Former governor Frank Morrison made a dramatic entry onto the May 12 primary ballot.
The three-term Democratic governor filed at the last minute — literally — as a candidate for his party's nomination to the U.S.

At 4:59 p.m., with a 5 p.m. deadline, Morrison processed his filing papers in the secretary of state's office at the Capitol. He joined two college profesThomas of Doane College, in the primary battle.

Morrison said a group headed by Clair Callan, former Demo-cratic representative from Odell, persuaded him to enter the race for the seat Senator Roman Hruska, a Republican, is seek ing to retain. Hruska was without primary opposition until the last day, when Otis Glebe of Lincoln filed against him. Glebe is a relative unknown and isn't expected to offer much of a battle for the veteran senator.

Morrison's entry into the Democratic primary, however, promised a stiff fight for a nomination Peterson had previously been favored to win

Governor Tiemann said he would devote most of his efforts

He said the programs which had been deferred until this spring and summer in response to anti - inflation restrictions probably can't be hurried up any now that the limitations have been eased by Washington.

Artist's Drawing of Proposed Nursing Home for Ord

TYPE OF BUILDING—It will be colonial design, brick exterior, fire resistant construction with all the latest safety features for the protection of the occupants. The proposed 65 bed nursing home will be a one story building and be designed around a center nursing core for efficiency of operation and convenience of the occupants. It will contain:

- 65 beds, including 1 isolation bedroom
- 32 half baths; plus, full bath in isolation room
- 2 special baths with showers for wheelchair occupants and special tubs for other occupants
- 1 half bath for employees
- 2 public restrooms 2 solariums
- 1 chapel and general purpose room

- 1 dining room
- 1 therapy room 1 personal care room
- 1 treatment room 1 employee lounge

kitchen, laundry, dishwashing, linen storage, medicine storage, etc.

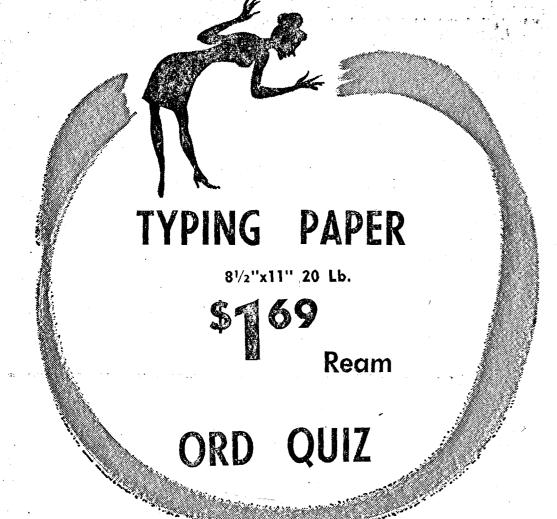

TAXES——We have checked nursing homes in communities similar to ours and they are paying their way as planned by the community. Our nursing home should not add any undue tax burden, if properly managed, and should pay for itself in less than 20 years.

PERSONNEL AND ESTIMATED PAYROLL—The nursing home will employ approximately .28 to 30 full time employees consisting of an administrator, a bookkeeper, a housekeeper, nurses, nurses aides, cooks, kitchen help, laundry help and a custodian. This will create as estimated annual payroll of $115,000 per year. This should change hands in the community a minimum of four times, ($460,000); plus, the other monies for food, utilities, etc.

BENEFITS TO THE GENERAL AREA—Our elderly residents in Ord and the adjacent areas needing this service can receive it locally. They will not be forced to relocate away from family and friends. Residents of the home will be attended by friendly local people who can, and will, give personal attention to their special problems; not by strangers who have no personal interest. It will be more convenient to visit loved ones if they are close to home. It will provide nursing care for our elderly residents; thus, leaving the space in our hospital for the critically ill.

CONSTRUCTION—Construction of the nursing home will be like any community project; it will be awarded to the lowest capable builder.

Ord Quiz

More Answers Needed

For the second time in 16 months, residents of Ord will go to the polls Apr. 7 and decide whether they want a city-financed nursing home. The last time they voted, in December 1968, they said they didn't.

There's no question but that a new nursing home, properly run, would be a tremendous asset to this community. The turnover in monthly pay-roll alone would provide a stimulus to the local economy; the location would be of great convenience to area citizens whose loved ones would use the facility; and the home, if not a burden to the taxpayers, would be one more plus factor for this community when it tries to pursuade other businesses or individuals to locate here. These are the things that are being emphasized in the current campaign, and they should be. But there are two sides to every issue, and some very bonafide questions are being avoided by those who are pushing for the home. For example:

How much will this raise taxes? Some backers of the nursing home either side-step or scoff at this every time it comes up, but it's certainly a legitimate question and one to which the voters have a right to have an answer,

When the nursing-home issue was still in the talking stages, and even in the early part of the promotion campaign, the impression was left that it would cost the taxpayers "nothing." Now that has been altered to "nothing after the first year."

Assuming this latter answer is correct, and we have no evidence to think otherwise, the people still have a right to know how much it will cost that first year. When this question was posed to C. M. Johansen of Nursing Home Builders Inc., the Broken Bow firm which hopes to supervise construction, he answered vaguely that the highest levy he knew of was 10 mills and that it had been retained because that's the way the people in whatever community he was talking about wanted to pay for their home.

Johansen's firm, if the $480,000 bond issue passes, will receive 10 percent. That's at least 3 percent more than the usual architect's fee, and 31/2 percent more than that being received by the architectural firm supervising construction of Ord's new

Three percent of $480,000 comes out to $14,400. For that kind of "gravy" money it seems the Broken Bow firm could come up with some sort of reasonable projection on a mill levy for the first year. Surely, after having already built 112 nursing homes, the company has a feeling for what the first-year operating costs will be. And the other item needed to determine ected levy, city valuations, is readily available at the Valley County tax assessor's office.

Another question: How will the $480,000 be spent? When this question was posed, Johansen said in effect that he'd rather not say at this time because the Ord City Council had not committed itself definitely to a 65-bed home as opposed to a 72-bed one. Furthermore, it might be necessary later to do some shifting of funds; for instance, if land costs prove higher than expected, the extra money would have to come from construction or some other category. Or vice versa, if land costs prove lower, the excess could be used on another facet of the project.

What Johansen says is true, but we still can see no reason why a projected cost break-out can't be published. If necessary, two separate schedules could be listed—one for a 65-bed home and another for a 72-bed home.

To do otherwise is asking for a lot of blind faith on the part of the voters. Still another question:

How valid is the argument that a municipal nursing home will be cheaper to the patient than a private one? Publicity material being distributed by Johansen and local workers states: ... Costs have risen to a point that makes it questionable whether or not our older citizens living on a fixed income could afford to utilize the services of a modern nursing home under private ownership." Yet, by Johansen's own admission, all except 9 of the 112 homes his firm have built have been privately

The Quiz has asked for, but so far has not received, stafistics showing the patient costs in private homes of Nebraska as opposed to public ones.

By raising these questions, the Quiz will be considered by many supporters of the nursing home to be fighting it. This is not true.

As' a general rule, when people are not informed on an sue they'll vote no. This has been proven time and again. We raise these questions at this time because we feel they, nd probably a few others, are ones that the people are asking. and by raising them now, we are making sure that supporters of the nursing home still have one more issue of the Quiz in hich to provide answers before the people cast their votes.

Last year, during the campaign for a new grade school, attempt was made to provide straight answers for every posble question. The result paid off at the polls; the issue passed. Straight answers on the nursing home will create more es" votes than will any attempt to avoid certain questions.

A Nice Worry

Quiz staffers are feeling these days a bit like the farmer who ayed for rain and got a flood.

After harping repeatedly on the issue of community serve, we were overwhelmed by the number of filings made this for local political office. And like the farmer who worried out the mud after he got the rain, we wonder if some candates might get elected with 30 or 35 percent of the vote.

could happen in those three and especially four-man races. That's a nice worry to have for a change, though, and all use who have stepped forward and said they're willing to tve deserve a big pat on the back—win or lose. Thanks a lot, fellows—and you too, gals!

These past few weeks the Girl Scouts from Ord have been busy and having lots of fun preparing and having lots of fun preparing a special banquet and night of fun for their guests — fathers, grandfathers, or other relatives and friends — one of which each girl chose to ask as her guest. Scouting opens a girl's eyes and heart to fun, learning, and adventure; it provides a program adventure; it provides a program of character building and citizenship training. This world of fun and friendship begins when a girl joins a troop.

She develops an awareness of people about her and learns about her community. As she grows older and continues in Scouting, she will grow in knowledge, responsibility, kindness, and resourcefulness, all of which is "girl inspired" with adult super-talents, and money to carry on our many programs. Because of your help there will be more Scouting and more action involving more people. Over 80 young ladies say "thank you" too. Lois Zlomke

Despite Hazards of Spring Cleaning, This Time of Year Brings New Hope

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Ed Novak allowed during the session at the country store Sat-furday night that he was full ready to get into politics, 'cause he was getting in the habit of working on all the angles at once.

He said his wife had been nagging him since last fall to paint ging him since last fall to paint the kitchen, so last week he final-

What he done, Ed told the fellers, was paint the ceiling first. By the time he got over the ceiling he had painted most of the floor and everything in the room, and his wife said she didn't need his services no more till she started sprucing up outside the house where he wasn't as likely to make a mess.

Spring is a time to stay clear of the house, Ed allowed, 'cause sooner or later the women get in a cleaning up notion, and they put everybody in sight to work. Ed was of a mind to meet at the store two nights a week fer the duration of spring cleaning, but most of the fellers said they would ruther help with the cleaning than listen to the static when they got back home.

With spring coming just like the calendar and the Good Lord promised, despite all this March snow, the fellers were looking on the bright side of things.

rural influence ain't been much fer a long time, he allowed, and it's getting less. Of 435 Congres-sional districts, he said, only 83 have as much as 15 percent of their folks living on farms. Yet farming, with 5 million people working in it, is the biggest industry in the country.

Mister Editor, when I was a boy, I recollect that some feller came to my Grandpa's house selling books on how to farm twice as good. Grandpa told the feller he didn't need the book cause "I ain't farming now half as good as I know how." I am of a mind that farmers are doing a heap better job than they were in Grandpa's day. They'd better, 'cause like the old preacher said, "There ain't no-body making no more land." Yours truly,

If you have listened to representatives of Nursing Home Builders, Inc., of Broken Bow-or some local proponents of the nursing home issue—you've undoubtedly heard the statement, "If the newspaper gets behind this, it will pass." The inference is that this newspaper can, if its officers so desire, sell the bond issue single-bandedly.

Nothing could be further from the truth As publisher of the newspaper I'd like to make some statements—neither for nor against the bond issue. They are merely for clarification's sake . . . and that only.

First, I object to the above statement made so freely by others. Others say this—not the newspaper. Then if the newspaper DOES NOT push the bond issue—and it fails—the blame is immediately placed on the newspaper. Second, the newspaper tries to bring out both sides of any given issue. There are times we must edit copy, because we are solely responsible for the words printed in this paper. Also, editing is necessary for brevity. And we insist that THE IMPORTANT FACTS NOT BE RV. TANT FACTS NOT BE BY-PASSED.

Objective reporting becomes subjective material for each reader. It's up to the voter to decide the issue. This newspaper does not have a vote. As an individual taxpayer residing in Ord, I DO have a vote. I will carefully weigh the facts

He isn't here this year. His daughter wrote me from Truth or Consequences, N.M., where he had a ranch, that he had a coronary and died Dec. 1.

Yesterday a conservative, ladylike soul who speaks elegant clipped English told me about being a beer tester, while her husband, a captain in the Canadian Forces, was away directing guards at a visit of Winston Churchill, and later of Prince Philip. malnutrition and disease by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. These cold-blooded "murders" have involved 16 United States soldiers and three marines, and have occurred over a period of approximately five

This shocking information was given to the House Armed Service Committee by Richard G. Capen Jr., an assistant to the secretary of defense and a member of the Pentagon's prisonerof war policy committee. In testifying on the fate of U.S. military prisoners and those missing in Vietnam, Capen broke the Defense Department's long silence on the most tragic part of the prisoner-of-war story.

"We are aware of at least 19

This Weeks Meditation

Read I Corinthians 3:16-23 If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are. (I Corinthians 3:17)

(1 Corinthians 3:17)

When in cities, I like to go to the large temples and cathedrals to see the beauty of their structure. As I see their grandeur, it thrills me to see what man can do.

Always as I take in the loveliness and massive strength surrounding me, one thought comes to my mind. It is that our bodies are of infinitely more value than those beautiful buildings. We hear Paul saying that our bodies are the temples of God, dwelling places for the Holy Spirit. He cautions against defiling them, for they are holy—set aside for God's use.

Unfortunately, not all of us have been blessed with perfectly sound bodies or good health. We are not to conclude, however, that our imperfect bodies are not temples of God. No one is justified in violating his body with any destructive thing. If we are truly Christ's, we desire to have and to keep the very best temple possible in which He can dwell.

PRAYER: O God, we are careless and thoughtless in so many ways. Forgive us, we pray. Help us to keep these temples more holy for Thee by cleansing our thoughts, words, and deeds. In the name of Jesus Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

APRIL 1 and SEPTEMBER 30

Numerous complaints have been received this spring about dogs, so this is a notice to all people owning or harboring dogs that they must keep them either tied or shut up be tween the two above dates — APRIL 1 and SEPTEMBER 30.

In case any person or persons who own or harbor a dog or dogs, do not heed the above warning, he or she will be subject to the penalty provided by the ordinance.

Furthermore, Dog License Tags for the year, 1970, will be on sale May 1. Be sure to purchase a tag for your dog on or before May 10, 1970.

Whether or not you keep your dog on your premises, you still must purchase a dog license and rabies vaccination. All dogs must have a collar and tags on. A tag does not permit a dog to run at large.

If you like your dog — keep it tied or shut up — don't let it impose on your neighbors.

Zikmunds Return Home After Long Absence

Alvin Zikmund and son Tony of Alda brought his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Zikmund, to their home in Comstock Saturday evening. Mr. Zikmund returned home the same night. His mother had spent three weeks in Omaha caring for her grandchildren and keeping house for the Elden Zikmunds while Mrs. Eldon Zikinund was ill.

On weekends, when her son came home, Mrs. Zikmund visited with her other son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zikmund, and Carlene. While in Omaha she also visited with her brother, Joe Visek, and her aunt, Sophie Visek.

Following Mrs. Zikmund's three-week stay in Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zikmund took her to Grand Island where they all had a covered-basket dinner with the Edwin Stone family.

After dinner the Leo Zikmund family returned to Omaha and Mrs. Zikmund remained with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and
