

The Capital Region Airport Authority Names Gary Bartek as Director of Air Cargo & Global Logistics for the Capital Region International Airport

Gary Bartek

LANSING, MI – Following a nationwide search, the Capital Region Airport Authority has announced that Gary Bartek will become the Director of Air Cargo & Global Logistics at the Capital Region International Airport. He will begin his new position on March 3, 2014.

Bartek comes to the Airport Authority after approximately 10 years' experience as Marketing Manager – Cargo & Economic Development with the Kansas City Aviation Department, where he led a development group responsible for converting Kansas City International Airport into the largest air cargo airport within a six state area. He also served three years as Economic Development Administrator for the City of Leavenworth, KS.

“The Airport Authority is excited to have such an experienced professional join the Airport Authority’s Director Staff,” says Bob Selig, President & CEO of the Capital Region Airport Authority.

Bartek will be directly responsible for the future marketing and development of domestic and international cargo and logistics operations through Port Lansing and the Port Lansing Foreign Trade Zone #275.

“The Lansing Region has a rich history in supply chain and time-definite transportation services connectivity to business markets,” says Bartek. I am delighted to be joining Capital Region Airport Authority and look forward to working with area stakeholders in helping the region to further logistics success in the future.”

Bartek has a Bachelor Degree and Master of Arts Degree in Economics from the University of Nebraska and is a Licensed Real Estate Broker.

ADK Executive Search of Jacksonville, Florida assisted the Capital Region Airport Authority with the search.
