SYRACUSE :

PRINTED AT THE OFFICE OF S. G. HITCHCOCK & CO.,
No. 4 West Fayette Street.

To Our Patrons.

In introducing to his patrons the "Jamestown City Directory for 1875," the publisher desires to return his thanks to all those who have kindly assisted in procuring the necessary information to make the work complete. Especially are our thanks due to the editors of the several papers for the favorable notices of our work in their respective journals, and to our patrons generally we wish to express our gratitude for the patronage they have so liberally accorded to us.

That our work is a complete one, in every respect, we would not claim; but that it is as complete as faithful labor and careful pains taking can make it, we have no hesitation in assuming.

Few, but those practically acquainted with directory work, have any idea of the many difficulties attending the procuring of information and compilation of works of this character. Errors and omissions we know have occurred, and we ask the indulgence of the reader in marking such as had been observed in the subsequent reading of the proofs, and which are noted in the Errata, following the Introduction.

The Advertisers in this work we most cheerfully commend to the patronage of all those under whose observation these pages may come.

With thanks to friends generally, we leave our work in their hands, hoping to meet and serve them again, in a similar capacity, at some future time.

Jamestown Appendix.

Jamestown.

The thriving village of Jamestown is pleasantly located on the outlet of Chautauqua Lake, in the south-east part of the county of Chautauqua. It is distant from Albany 288 miles, and 69 miles from Buffalo. It is the seat of a vast and increasing manufacturing interest, and with its natural facilities for growth and expansion, coupled with the active enterprising spirit characteristic of its business population, is destined, at no distant day, to become a city of no mean proportions.

The business streets are lined with many fine blocks and stores devoted to the varied departments of trade and commerce, while numerous elegant mansions and residences adorn the suburban portions.

The village is lighted with gas and the business portion amply supplied with water for emergencies of fire, by means of water pipes and hydrants into which the water is forced from the outlet by the agency of powerful Holly pumps.

Three first-class hotels, the Weeks, Jamestown and Gifford Houses, fitted up with every convenience, with other good houses of more humble pretensions, afford every facility of a home for the traveling public or the summer tourist.

The village supports two ably-managed evening papers, the Chautauqua Democrat and Jamestown Journal, besides four weeklies; one, the Weekly Grange, devoted to the interests of the agricultural community, having been recently established, and one, the Folkets Rost, (People's Voice,) printed in the Swedish language and devoted to the interests of that portion of the population, is liberal ly patronized by the Swedish residents of Jamestown and other sections of the country.

The Atlantic & Great Western R. R. passes through the center, from east to west, connecting with the Erie R. R. at Salamanca; the Dunkirk, Allegheny Valley & Pittsburgh R. R. passes within two and a half miles of the center of the village, communication with which is had by stage semi-daily to Falconer's Station. The Buffalo & Jamestown R. R. which is now running regular trains from Buffalo to Markhams, is expected to be completed during the present summer, which will open up a new avenue of travel to Buffalo and all points east, and must add materially to the commercial interests of the place. Besides the railroad facilities daily communication is made with Mayville, the county seat, and all points on the lake, by steamers, during the summer season, while daily stages connect with other points not reached by other modes of conveyance.

The most important of the business interests of Jamestown is that connected with its manufactories, to the enterprising promoters of which is due, in a great measure, the present prosperity of the village. A large amount of capital is employed in the various branches of manufacture, and employment furnished to more than 2,000 persons. It is a noteworthy fact that during the past winter, while mills and factories were shut down all over the country, the factories of Jamestown were kept in constant operation. A more detailed account of the manufactories of Jamestown will be found under the head of Principal Manufactories, in the appendix portion of this work.

In her school facilities, Jamestown has every reason to congratulate herself on the excellent advantages provided, through the wisdom and liberality of her citizens, for the thorough education of her youth. An excellent Union School, with an academic department and an efficient corps of instructors, occupy a fine brick school building, which has been erected at an expense of $75,000. Connected with the school is an excellent library of over 1,000 volumes of standard works, besides a circulating library of over 700 volumes for the use of the citizens. The branch schools are also efficiently officered and liberally patronized.

There are ten churches in the village, representing the usual phases of religious belief, viz. Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Congregational, Catholic, Free Methodist and Universalist, the last two of which are without church buildings.

The chief point of attraction to the tourist is the beautiful Lake Chautauqua, whose shores are rapidly becoming a popular resort for the invalid and the pleasure seeker. "It is a beautiful sheet of water, eighteen miles long and from one to three miles wide. It extends diagonally nearly half across the county, and is navigable its entire length for steamboats. It is 726 feet above Lake Erie, and 1,291 feet above tide, and in 1846 it was pronounced by Emory F. Warren, 'the highest body of water upon the globe navigated by steam.' Upon the east it is bounded by fine sloping gravelly banks of exceeding richness and fertility, and on the west by level and in some places marshy shores. Its waters are supplied principally from springs, and their purity is attested by the depth to which objects within them are discernible, and the choice fish with which they abound."* "It is a remarkable fact that the waters of Chautauqua Lake, which is distant only eight miles from Lake Erie, and a small stream flowing into the former, and distant less than five miles, are discharged by the Conewango, Allegheny, Ohio and Mississippi, into the Gulf of Mexico.”*

So rapidly has the reputation of these delightful shores grown in public favor, that it has been found necessary to enlarge the various facilities for the convenience of the ever-increasing numbers who resort hither during the summer season for health and pastime, and more commodious hotels and boarding houses have been erected at different points, and each season is witnessing additions to the fleet which sail over its waters. The National Sunday School Assembly has selected a site upon its shores as the place of its annual gathering, and has purchased grounds at Fair Point, near the head of the lake, which are being tastefully laid out and conveniently arranged for their annual assemblage.

The first house erected in the village was built for Judge James Prendergast, who purchased a tract of land in 1810, embracing the present site of Jamestown. In 1811 he built a dam across the outlet, at the rapids, now Jamestown, erecting a saw mill the following year. In 1815 the village plat was surveyed and the name given. In this year also the first school was taught, in the house of John Blowers, by Rev. Amasa West. Mary Blowers, daughter of John Blowers, was the first child born in Jamestown. Jacob Fenton, from New Haven, Conn., settled at Jamestown in 1814 and built the third house erected here. In the same year he established a pottery, continuing that business three years, when he removed to

*Child's Gazetteer.

In 1782, a party consisting of 300 British soldiers and 500 Indians, from Canada, spent the months of June and July around Chautauqua Lake, in constructing canoes and making other preparations for an attack upon Fort Pitt, near Pittsburgh, Pa. They designed to descend the Allegheny River, and a dam was constructed across the outlet of the lake to raise the water sufficiently to carry them down on the flood when the obstruction was removed.* While the people of Jamestown and vicinity, during the period of unusual drouth in 1822, were engaged in deepening the outlet of Chautauqua Lake to increase the supply of water for hydraulic purposes, was found a row of piles, from three to four inches in diameter, and from three to five feet in length, driven firmly into the earth, across the bed of the stream, and covered with gravel. It is fair to presume that these obstructions were placed there by the party above referred to.†

The population of Jamestown, according to the census of 1870, was 5,336, and is now estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000. The Swedish residents form an important element of the population, numbering about 2,000 persons, a large portion of whom are employed in the various manufactories. As a class they are intelligent, industrious and thrifty, and well skilled in the mechanic arts.
