ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

You've probably been hearing the buzz around AI in the writing community & wondered:

- ..."What does this mean for me?"
- ...Can AI replace me?
- ...Will it steal my unique voice?"
- ..."Am I being left behind?"

- ✓ You're afraid that using AI might dilute the authenticity of your writing. After all, can a machine truly capture the subtleties and nuances of human emotions and experiences?
- ✓ You're hesitant because you've seen AI output that reads like it's been written by a robot - devoid of any personality or charm. Could AI make your writing sound robotic too?
- ✓ You're apprehensive because you value the relationship you have with your readers. Could using AI make your writing impersonal and harm that bond?
- ✓ You're skeptical because you've always seen writing as a purely human endeavor, a form of art. Can AI really contribute to the creative process, or could it end up stifling your creativity?
- ✓ You've seen AI writing tools, but they seem complex and inaccessible. Will you need to become a tech whiz to make any real use of them?
- ✓ You're worried about the ethics of using AI. Is it a form of cheating to leverage machine learning in your work?
- ✓ Above all, there's this lurking fear - Could AI eventually replace writers? Is it just a matter of time before human authors become obsolete?

Bet You Didn't Think I Knew All This About You, Huh?

You're not alone if the notion of AI in writing brings you a mix of emotions...

But before you give into fear & skepticism or dismiss this as too technical, too futuristic for your craft, hang on...

This training isn't about making you a coder, nor about turning your beautiful prose into cold, robotic text.

It's about:

...enhancing your natural talent 🎨

...stimulating your idea generation ✨

...and making sure your story finds its way to the page every time. 📖

The truth is, while everyone is talking about AI and ChatGPT, no one is teaching authors like you how to use this powerful tool to its fullest potential. Most people are simply copying and pasting generic prompts without understanding the art of crafting the right prompts, which is what truly makes the difference.

This training is about one thing → how YOU, as a writer, can use AI to supercharge YOUR writing.

WRITING STYLE

WHAT ARE WRITING STYLES?

Writing style refers to the way in which an author chooses to write their pieces. It's a unique blend of syntax, diction, punctuation, character development, dialogue, etc., within a piece of writing. The style reflects the writer's personality, their attitude toward the subject, and their connection with the readers.

HOW AI UNDERSTANDS WRITING STYLE

The way GPT-4 (or any version of GPT so far) understands writing style is not necessarily through specific keywords, but more through context, sentence structure, and the general tone of the instructions provided by the user. However, giving certain instructions or using certain phrases could help indicate the style you want. Here are some general examples:
