STEP ONE

UNDERSTAND THE SCHENGEN AREA

A lot of people assume that in Europe, it's all border-free travel, but that's not actually the case, and the whole 'travel without borders' thing only applies to a certain group of countries in Europe known as the Schengen Area.

Granted, this is a huge group covering 27 countries, but it's still worth noting that some countries like the UK, Ireland, Bulgaria, Romania, and many countries in this Balkan region are not included.

Practically speaking, that just means that if you stay within this Schengen Zone, you won't need to clear passport control every time you cross a border. If however you enter a non-Schengen country like the UK or Ireland, then you will need to go through passport control.

HERE ARE THE SCHENGEN ZONE COUNTRIES

The reason it's important to know the distinction between Schengen & Non Schengen is it can impact what visas you might have to apply for, or put a limit on how long your trip can be.

Generally speaking, those who may enter this zone visa-free can only stay 90 days out of 180 days, and visas are often granted for only 90 days out of 180 days as well.

DO I NEED A SCHENGEN VISA?

Consult this list to see if you will need to apply for a visa to enter the Schengen Area.

YES

NO

SCHENGEN COUNTRIES TO VISIT

For the countries you plan to visit, write down a rough estimate of how many days to spend there, ensuring your total doesn't exceed 90. You may wish to save this worksheet for later, after you've completed the other sections to figure out which countries you're visiting.

NON-SCHENGEN COUNTRIES TO VISIT

PRO TIP: Including a mix of countries in and out of the Schengen Area can help you stay in Europe longer than 90 days at a time without overstaying your allowance!

Use the space below to estimate the number of days you might spend in non-Schengen countries, so you have a better idea of how many days total you can potentially spend in Europe.

Remember that each country has its own rules for how long you can stay, so ensure your estimated days are within what's allowed for your passport.
