NC State has consistently been part of the national women's cross country conversation, and the Wolfpack got in the final word on Nov. 20.

Placing five women among the top 32 runners and totaling 84 points, NC State took home the program's first NCAA Division I Women's Cross Country Championship on a near-perfect race day at Apalachee Regional Park.

The NCAA championship is the third for the Atlantic Coast Conference in women's cross country but the first since Virginia claimed back-to-back titles in 1981 and 1982. The national title is the third overall for NC State, which claimed back-to-back AIAW championships in 1979 and 1980.

Wolfpack sophomore Kelsey Chmiel placed sixth overall and led all ACC runners with her 6K time of 19:34.6. NC State received additional All-America (top-40) finishes from Katelyn Tuohy (15th, 19:43.1), Alexandra Hays (22nd, 19:48.2), Hannah Steelman (24th, 19:49.6) and Samantha Bush (32nd, 19:52.9).

NC State, under the watch of veteran head coach and former Wolfpack All-American Laurie Henes, made its NCAA-leading 35th appearance in the NCAA Women's Cross Country Championship field. Saturday marked the program's 16th top-10 NCAA finish and the sixth in the last seven years. It was the Wolfpack's 12th top-five NCAA finish and ninth podium (top-four) finish.

NC State finished 38 points ahead of second-place BYU (122). Notre Dame placed fifth in the team scoring with 215 points, buoyed by a ninth-place (Continued on page 3) finish by Maddy Denner (19:37.7) and an 11th-place showing by Olivia Markezich (19:38).

Florida State's Lauren Ryan (19:50.1) took 26th place to give the ACC a total of eight women's All-Americans.

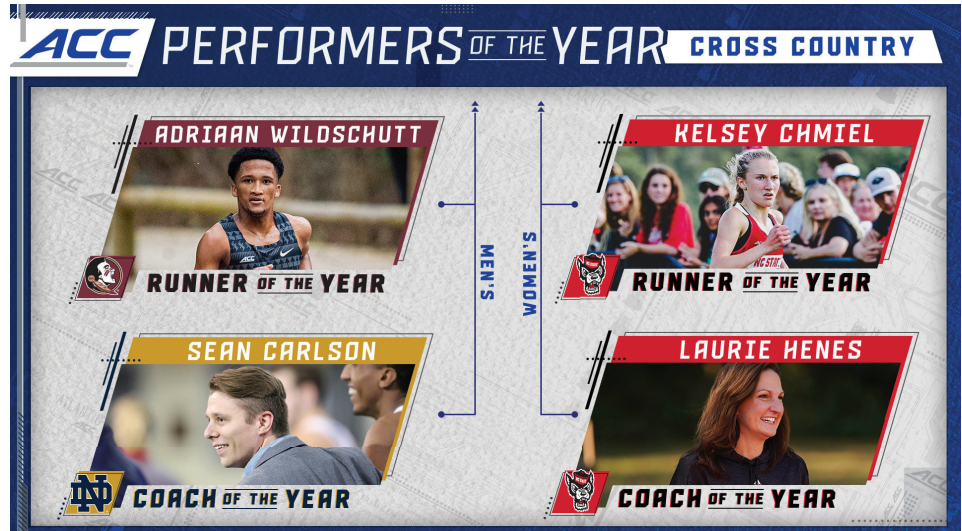

North Carolina (405 points) placed third among ACC teams at 14th in the overall scoring, followed by 19th-place Florida State (468) and 30th-place Syracuse (768).

On the men's side, Notre Dame placed ninth with 290 points and was followed by Wake Forest with 356 to give the ACC two teams among the top 10. They were followed by 18th-place North Carolina (460), 19th-place Syracuse (485) and 20th-place Florida State (517).

Following up on last season's second-place NCAA finish, FSU's Adriaan Wildschutt again led all ACC runners on Saturday with his 10K time of 28:52 that placed sixth. Notre Dame's Dylan Jacobs took 10th place at 28:57.5.

Four more ACC men earned All-America status with Wake Forest's Zach Facioni placing 19th at 29:19.2, followed by FSU's Ahmed Muhumed (20th, 29:19.9), North Carolina's Parker Wolfe (28th, 29:25.8) and Notre Dame's Danny Kilrea (31st, 29:28).

Florida State served as the host school for the 2021 NCAA Men's and Women's Cross Country Championships. It was the second DI NCAA National Championship hosted by FSU and the first since the 1996 women's tennis national championships. It marked the fifth time that the NCAA Cross Country Championships were hosted by a current ACC school and the first since Louisville welcomed the event in 2017.

ACC 2021 Cross Country Season Awards

GREENSBORO, N.C. (theACC.com) – NC State, fresh off the program's first-ever NCAA Women's Cross Country Championship, swept both 2021 Atlantic Coast Conference women's season honors. The Wolfpack's Kelsey Chmiel earned ACC Women's Runner of the Year honors in a vote of the league's 15 head coaches, while Laurie Henes was selected as the ACC Women's Coach of the Year for the sixth consecutive season.

Nationally elite achievements were also recognized on the men's side, as Florida State's Adriaan Wildschutt was chosen ACC Men's Runner of the Year, and Notre Dame's Sean Carlson repeated as the ACC Men's Coach of the Year.

NC State's Chmiel, who hails from Saratoga Springs, New York, capped her stellar 2021 season by leading all ACC runners with a sixth-place finish at the NCAA Women's Championships on Nov. 20. That followed her first-place showing at the Southeast Regional on Nov. 12 and her run to the ACC Championship at Notre Dame on Oct. 29.

Chmiel, who became the third consecutive gold medalist from NC State at the ACC Championship, posted a winning 6K time of 20:02.7 to take first place by more than seven seconds. Her winning Southeast Regional time of 19:58.4 led the field by nearly eight seconds. With a time of 19:34.6 at the NCAA finals, Chmiel led a program-record five All-America Wolfpack runners with her sixth-place finish.

After placing second in last season's NCAA Men's Cross Country Championship, Florida State's Wildschutt continued to make his mark among the nation's top runners. The South Africa native became the second Seminole in history to earn back-to-back All-America honors after he placed sixth in the men's 10k at this year's NCAA Championship, crossing the line with a personal best of 28:52.0.

Wildschutt repeated as USTFCCA South Region Male Athlete of the Year after winning five races this season, tying the school record set in 1981 by Herb Wills. Wildschutt was the South Region Champion with a meet record of 29:07.11. He was the 2021 ACC Champion with an 8K time of 23:07, bringing home FSU's third ACC individual title in program history.

Henes led NC State to its first NCAA Championship in women's cross country and third national title in the sport overall. The five All-Americans under her guidance this season set a program record for the most honorees in a single season and were the most by any women's team in 2021. With a pair of impressive performances at the NCAA Southeast Regional Championships and ACC Championships, Wolfpack also tied the program records for the most single-season All-Region and All-ACC with six in each meet.

Under Henes' guidance, NC State won its sixth-straight ACC team title and its fifth-consecutive Southeast Regional championship. The Wolfpack's 20 total team points at the ACC Women's Championship matched the lowest score in the history of the meet as Katelyn Tuohy (second place), Hannah Steelman (fourth) and Alexandra Hays (fifth) joined Chmiel in posting top-five finishes.

Notre Dame's Carlson was selected ACC Men's Coach of the Year for the second consecutive season after guiding the Fighting Irish to a ninth-place NCAA finish, the Great Lakes Region title and their third ACC Championship title in four years. The ninth-place finish marked the third consecutive NCAA top-10 showing for the Notre Dame men. Two Irish claimed All-America honors under Carlson's watch in the men's 10K final as Dylan Jacobs placed 10th and Danny Kilrea 31st.

Notre Dame Men, NC State Women Repeat

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (theACC.com) - The host Notre Dame men and NC State women again claimed team titles at the ACC Cross Country Championships on Oct. 29.

The Fighting Irish captured their second consecutive ACC men's championship and their third in four seasons. The Wolfpack women took home their sixth consecutive conference title and 27th overall, the second-most by any ACC program in any sport and the most of any women's program.

Adrian Wildschutt of Florida State took the gold medal in the ACC men's 8K final with a time of 23:07, placing 16 seconds ahead of runner-up Dylan Jacobs of Notre Dame.

NC State's Kelsey Chmiel claimed the ACC women's 6K crown with a time of 20:02.7, a little more than two seconds ahead of teammate Katelyn Tuohy. The Wolfpack placed four runners among the top five, and five among the top seven. NC State's 20 total points tied for the lowest team score in the history of the ACC Women's Championship.
