6. SCOPE OF WORK

6.1 Project scope of ISA600( Revised)

The RFQ is for the presentation of “The implementation of ISA 600(Revised)” seminar. This is to be two half day seminars (4 hours presentation time each), which is planned to be presented in November 2023 and May 2024 from 09:00 to 13:00.

The seminar will be divided into two parts of approximately 4 hours each part. The first part will be a technical session where the theoretical requirements of ISA 600 (Revised) will be briefly covered. The second part will focus on the practical implementation of the requirements of the standard.

Background and context to the Seminar

SAICA remains alert to local and international developments in auditing, including recently released auditing standards and related guidance, and in-practice issues that may arise with respect to the application of existing or new and revised standards. To assist practitioners with The Special Consideration: Audits of Group Financial Statements (ISA 600 (Revised)), SAICA is presenting a seminar relating to the technical changes to the revised standard and implementation guidance.

‘The implementation of ISA 600 (Revised) Special Considerations- Audits of Group Financial Statements (Including the Work of Component Auditors)

ISA 600 (Revised) comes into effect on 15 December 2023. This standard is expected to have a significant impact on all practices that perform group audit engagements in accordance with the IAASB standards.

In terms of ISA 600 (Revised) the objectives of the group engagement team (GET) are to:

- (a) With respect to the acceptance and continuance of the group audit engagement, determine whether sufficient appropriate audit evidence can reasonably be expected to be obtained to provide a basis for forming an opinion on the group financial statements:
- (b) Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the group financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and plan and perform further audit procedures to appropriately respond to those assessed risks.
- (c) Be sufficiently and appropriately involved in the work of component auditors throughout the group audit, including communicating clearly about the scope and timing of their work, and evaluating the results of that work; and
- (d) Evaluate whether sufficient appropriate audit evidence has been obtained from the audit procedures performed, including with respect to the work performed by component auditors, as a basis for forming an opinion on the group financial statements.

ISA 600 (Revised) includes new and revised requirements and application material that better aligns the standard with recently revised standards such as ISQM 1, ISA 220 (Revised) and ISA 315 (Revised 2019). The standard also reinforces the point that all ISAs need to be applied in a group audit engagement. The revised standard also includes updated sections relating to the application and other explanatory material, which provides further clarification of the changes and practical application of the revised standard such as (Extracts from the explanatory material of the standard):

Definitions: Aggregation Risk

Aggregation risk exists in all audits of financial statements but is particularly important to understand and address in a group audit because there is a greater likelihood that audit procedures will be performed on classes of transactions, account balances or disclosures that are disaggregated across components. Generally, aggregation risk increases as the number of components increases at which audit procedures are performed separately, whether by component auditors or other members of the engagement team.

Groups and Components

The group's information system, including its financial reporting process, may or may not be aligned with the group's organizational structure. For example, a group may be organized according to its legal structure, but its information system may be organized by function, process, product or service (or by groups of products or services), or geographic locations for management or reporting purposes.

Component

The group auditor uses professional judgment in determining components at which audit work will be performed. Paragraph A7 explains that the financial information of certain entities or business units may be considered together for purposes of planning and performing audit procedures. However, the group auditor's responsibility for the identification and assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the group financial statements encompasses all of the entities and business units whose financial information is included in the group financial statements.

Involvement of Component Auditors

Component auditors may perform an audit of the financial statements of a component, whether for statutory, regulatory or other reasons, particularly when a component is a legal entity. When a component auditor is also performing or has completed an audit of the component financial statements, the group auditor may be able to use audit work performed on the component financial statements, provided the group auditor is satisfied that such work is appropriate for purposes of the group audit. In addition, component auditors may adapt the work performed on the audit of the component financial statements to also meet the needs of the group auditor. In any event, the requirements of this ISA apply, including those relating to the direction and supervision of component auditors and the review of their work.

Professional Skepticism

ISA 220 (Revised)<sup>39</sup> provides examples of the impediments to the exercise of professional skepticism at the engagement level, including unconscious auditor biases that may impede the exercise of professional skepticism when designing and performing audit procedures and evaluating audit evidence. ISA 220 (Revised) also provides possible actions that the engagement team may take to mitigate impediments to the exercise of professional skepticism at the engagement level.

Leadership Responsibilities for Managing and Achieving Quality on a Group Audit

In managing quality at the engagement level, ISA 220 (Revised) permits the engagement partner to assign the design or performance of procedures, tasks or actions to other members of the engagement team to assist the engagement partner. Accordingly, the group engagement partner may assign procedures, tasks or actions to other members of the engagement team and these members may assign procedures, tasks or actions further. In such circumstances, ISA 220 (Revised) requires that the engagement partner shall continue to take overall responsibility for managing and achieving quality on the audit engagement.

Identifying and Assessing the Risks of Material Misstatement

The process to identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the group financial statements is iterative and dynamic, and may be challenging, particularly when the component's activities are complex or specialized, or when there are many components across multiple locations. In applying ISA 315 (Revised 2019), the auditor develops initial expectations about the potential risks of material misstatement and an initial identification of the significant classes of transactions, account balances and disclosures of the group financial statements based on their understanding of the group and its environment, the applicable financial reporting framework and the group's system of internal control.

Documentation of the Direction and Supervision of Component Auditors and the Review of their work

The approach to direction, supervision and review in a group audit will be tailored by the group auditor based on the facts and circumstances of the engagement and will generally include a combination of addressing the group auditor's firm policies or procedures and responses specific to the group audit. Such policies or procedures may also describe or provide guidance about the documentation of the group auditor's direction and supervision of the engagement team and the review of their work.

The above are some of the important aspects that the auditor would need to keep abreast of as part of special considerations that would also be applicable in a Group audit engagement.

The practical implementation of the standards by the group engagement team (GET) must be demonstrated using tailor-made tools/templates/working papers/examples etc. The RFQ must include an indication of these tailor-made tools/templates/working papers/examples etc. that will be covered.

Other matters regarding scope and development requirements

The estimated hours for the development of the learning material will be based on a ratio of 5 hours for every hour of presentation, which is ( 5 X 8) 40 hours in total for learning material development. The rates applied must be in accordance with Circular 1/2022/23 – Guideline on Fees for Audits performed by private firms on behalf of the Auditor- General South Africa (AGSA). The allocated time includes liaising and meeting with the relevant SAICA Assurance Guidance Committee (AGC) Task Group to finalise the material. A timetable in respect of the review of the learning material will be provided by the SAICA technical team and coordinated with the successful bidder.

Please note:

- The scope of work relates to the development of the learning material and does not include the presentation of the Seminar.
- SAICA wishes to separate the engagement for material development from the engagement to present the material, although preference will be given to engage the material developer to present the seminar.

The learning material is the property of SAICA. SAICA branding will be applied to the learning material.

The supplier will be expected to deliver the following to discharge their responsibilities in terms of the contract (the completed product):

- Slides with presenter notes
  - Slides must be developed using the SAICA slide template
  - The inclusion of detailed presenter notes (i.e., for purposes of talking to each slide, as well as additional background information for the presenter) is of utmost importance

  - Slide presentation
  - Additional course material that accompanies the presentation (i.e., annexures) and may be in the form of tools, templates, working papers, notes, checklists, illustrations, and examples relating to key principles, guidance, or similar supplementary material.

The material will go through a vetting process by the SAICA technical team, or a suitably qualified person or Task Group appointed by SAICA to ensure that it is of the right quality. The supplier will only be considered to have delivered on the contract once all the issues identified through the vetting process have been addressed to the satisfaction of the vetting team. Changes resulting from the vetting process are also expected to be covered by the development time allocation and no extra amounts will be paid to effect the changes required.

Presentation of ISA 600 (Revised) SAICA Seminar 2023

- 1, The presentation time is 8 hours.
- 2, This seminar has the scope as set out above.

5. As part of finalising the agreement, the successful bidder will be required to nominate the person(s) that will present the seminar on behalf of SAICA, subject to SAICA's approval.
SAICA plans to present this seminar once, as a live webcast event on November 2023 from 09h00 to 13h00 via Livestream. The webcast recording will also be made available to our members after the seminar. Further details and logistics to be coordinated with SAICA, including that the presentation will only go ahead if enough delegates register for the event, as determined at the discretion of SAICA's Seminars & Events division.
6. The fee quoted is required to be per presentation hour. 19.1. If either Party is prevented or restricted directly or indirectly from carrying out all or any of its obligations under the Contract by any cause beyond the reasonable control of that Party, including, without limitations, acts of God, civil commotion, riots, insurrection, acts of government, fire, explosion, the elements, epidemics, governmental embargoes, cyber-attack, lack of access to essential resources, or like causes ("force majeure"), the Party so affected shall, to the extent so prevented, be relieved of its obligations hereunder during the period of such events and shall not be liable for any delay or failure in the performance of any obligations hereunder or loss or damage either general, special or consequential which the other Party may suffer due to or resulting from such delay or failure; provided always that written notice of the occurrence constituting force majeure shall be given within 1 (one) Calendar Day by the affected Party.

19.2. The Parties agree that should a force majeure event last more than 10 (ten) Calendar Days, the Party who has not invoked force majeure to excuse any non-performance of its obligations may terminate the Contract by giving 5 (five) Calendar Days written notice to the other Party.
