December 2011

- The renovation of the glass curtain wall of the Secretariat Building has been completed. The last new panels of the east façade have been installed.
- In the course of the demolition of the Secretariat Building hoist in 2012 the hoist openings of the east façade will be closed.
- The last glass panels of the west façade had been installed already in time for the opening of the 66th Session of the General Assembly in September 2011.
- The new glass curtain wall provides for much increased energy efficiency and better blast protection, while returning to the transparency and the colour of the original façade of 1950.
