THE VILLAGES

Jacque Alldaffer had been thinking about getting a second golf cart.

Thanks to game-show host Bob Eubanks, Alldaffer's wish came true during the first performance of "Hollywood's Greatest Game Shows," which was held Sunday night at the Sharon L. Morse Performing Arts Center.

Eubanks, along with co-host

Richard Clark, called up audience members to play such iconic games as "Card Sharks," "Name That Tune," and "The Not-So-Newlywed Game."

As part of the final round, Alldaffer, who lives in Grand Island, played the Pyramid, where she had to pick enough points to win $100,000.

She was off by 100 points, but the big surprise came when the golf cart was driven out on stage.

"Oh, my gosh, I can't believe it," Alldaffer said afterward. "(The show) was so funny. (Eubanks) does such a good job. The whole thing was fun."
