What's the aim of the Cautious Plan and who is it for?

The aim of the Cautious Plan is to achieve returns above the UK inflation rate. Investing always involves some level of risk, and movement up and down in value is to be expected. With the Cautious Plan, our aim is to limit the extent of these movements, but there is still a risk that you may get back less than invested.

The Cautious Plan is suitable for investors who aim to grow their money slowly and steadily, and are happy to take on small amounts of risk, as they are more focused on preventing losses than making large gains.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy and whilst money can be withdrawn at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate.

What makes the Cautious Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of investments for a Cautious Plan, but it can hold between 0% and 20% high-risk investments (Commodities, Emerging Market Bonds, Private Equity, Shares and Property), with the remainder in low-risk investments (Bonds, Cash, and Cash Equivalents).

Benchmarking

The Cautious Plan performance is measured against the UK Consumer Prices Index EU Harmonized Index. This measures UK inflation through the cost of goods and services to consumers. There may be times when UK inflation is very high and if this happens the Cautious Plan may significantly underperform against its benchmark.

Risk of loss

With investing, there's always a chance that investments can go down in value. In a one-year period, there's a 5% chance you may lose more than 3.9% of the value of a Cautious plan. This is not a maximum loss, and losses in the future may be greater.

CAUTIOUS PLAN FACTSHEET

Foreign currency

A Cautious Plan could contain up to 25% in overseas investments which are held in a foreign currency.

Typically, the more foreign currency held in a Plan, the greater the risk and potential volatility.

Investment Mix

This is a typical example of the mix of investments in a Cautious Plan.

Regional Mix

What's the aim of the Tentative Plan and who is it for?

The aim of the Tentative Plan is to generate reasonable growth over the longer term. Investing always involves some level of risk and movement up and down in value is to be expected.

The Tentative Plan is suitable for investors who prioritise limiting losses over high returns, and are willing to see moderate movements up and down in the value to try and get reasonable growth from their investments. But there is still a risk that you could get back less than invested.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy and whilst money can be withdrawn at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate for a Tentative Plan.

What makes the Tentative Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of investments for a Tentative Plan, but it can hold between 20% and 40% high-risk investments (Commodities, Emerging Market Bonds, Private Equity, Shares and Property), with the remainder in low-risk investments (Bonds, Cash, and Cash Equivalents).

There may be occasions when the Investment Team will lower the percentage of high risk investments down to 10%. Although this could impede the growth potential more than is normally associated with a Tentative Plan, it would only be done when considered necessary, according to market conditions.

Benchmarking

The Tentative Plan performance is measured against the ARC Cautious PCI. The PCI is a peer group benchmark which shows how other companies' plans with similar risk profiles have performed. The indices are based on real performance numbers from hundreds of other Plans.

Risk of loss

With investing, there's always a chance that investments can go down in value. In a one-year period, there's a 5% chance you may lose more than 5.8% of the value of a Tentative plan. This is not a maximum loss, and losses in the future may be greater.

TENTATIVE PLAN FACTSHEET

Foreign currency

A Tentative Plan could contain up to 25% in overseas investments which are held in a foreign currency.

Typically, the more foreign currency held in a Plan, the greater the risk and potential volatility.

What's the aim of the Confident Plan and who is it for?

The aim of the Confident Plan is to generate growth over the longer term. Investing always involves some level of risk, and movement up and down in value is to be expected.

The Confident Plan is suitable for investors who give equal importance to making gains and controlling potential losses, and are comfortable seeing movements up and down in the value to try and get good returns.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy and whilst money can be withdrawn from a Wealthify Plan at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate in a Confident Plan.

What makes the Confident Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of investments in a Confident Plan, but it can hold between 40% and 60% high-risk investments (Commodities, Emerging Market Bonds, Private Equity, Shares and Property), with the remainder in low-risk investments (Bonds, Cash, and Cash Equivalents).

There may be occasions when the Investment Team move an additional 10% higher or lower than the typical range, making the range 30% to 70% of high risk investments.

If the risk allocation is increased, it could lead to more extreme movement up and down, which might lead to higher losses than would usually be associated with this investment style. If they reduce allocations to high-risk investments, this could impede the growth potential more than is normally associated with a Confident level of risk. But this would only be done when considered necessary, according to market conditions.

Benchmarking

The Confident Plan performance is measured against the ARC Sterling Balanced Asset PCI. The PCI is a peer group benchmark which shows how other companies' plans with a similar risk profile have performed. The indices are based on real performance numbers from hundreds of other Plans.

Risk of loss

With investing, there's always a chance that investments can go down in value. In a one-year period, there's a 5% chance you may lose more than 8.2% of the value of a Confident plan. This is not a maximum loss, and losses in the future may be greater.

What's the aim of the Ambitious Plan and who is it for?

The aim of the Ambitious Plan is to generate high growth over the longer term. Investing always involves some level of risk and movement up and down in value is to be expected.

The Ambitious Plan is suitable for investors focused on making gains as a priority, and are willing to see large movements up and down in value to try and achieve high returns.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy and whilst money can be withdrawn from a Wealthify Plan at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate for an Ambitious Plan.

What makes the Ambitious Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of investments in an Ambitious Plan, but it can hold between 60% and 80% of high-risk investments (Commodities, Emerging Market Bonds, Private Equity, Shares and Property), with the remainder in low-risk investments (Bonds, Cash, and Cash Equivalents).

If they reduce allocations to high-risk investments, this could impede the growth potential more than is normally associated with an Ambitious level of risk. But this would only be done when considered necessary, according to market conditions.

What's the aim of the Adventurous Plan and who is it for?

The aim of the Adventurous Plan is to maximise growth over the longer term. Investing always involves some level of risk, and movement up and down in value is to be expected.

The Adventurous Plan is suitable for investors focused on maximising potential gains, and willing to see substantial movements up and down in value to try and achieve high returns.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy and whilst money can be withdrawn from a Wealthify Plan at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate for an Adventurous Plan.

What makes the Adventurous Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of investments in an Adventurous Plan, but it can hold between 80% and 100% of high-risk investments (Commodities, Emerging Market Bonds, Private Equity, Shares and Property), with the remainder in low-risk investments (Bonds, Cash, and Cash Equivalents).

What's the aim of our Ethical Cautious Plan and who is it for?

The aim of our Ethical Cautious Plan is to achieve returns above the UK inflation rate while aiming to avoid investments in harmful activities such as tobacco, gambling, weapons and adult entertainment. Our Ethical Cautious Plan will also actively invest in companies that demonstrate the highest environmental, social and governance practices. It can contain up to 25 mutual funds and exchange traded funds (ETFs) from regions around the world, mostly made up of shares and bonds. Some thematic funds will focus on themes such as gender equality (companies that strongly champion these issues) or green energy.

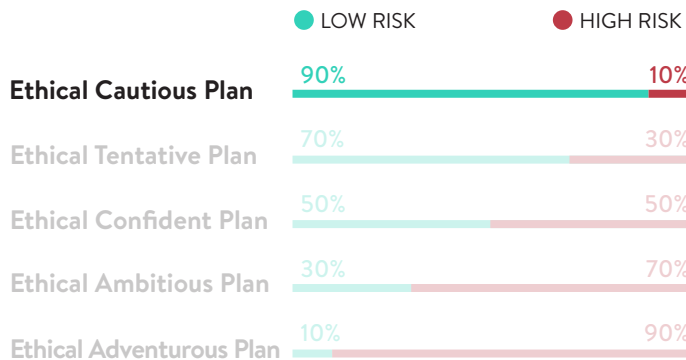

Investing always involves some level of risk and movement up and down in value is to be expected. With our Ethical Cautious Plan, we aim to limit the extent of these movements, but there is still a risk that you may get back less than invested.

What's the aim of our Ethical Ambitious Plan and who is it for?

The aim of our Ethical Ambitious Plan is to generate high growth over the longer term while aiming to avoid investments in harmful activities such as tobacco, gambling, weapons and adult entertainment. Our Ethical Ambitious Plan will also actively invest in companies that demonstrate the highest environmental, social and governance practices. It can contain up to 25 mutual funds and exchange traded funds (ETFs) from regions around the world, mostly made up of shares and bonds. Some thematic funds will focus on themes such as gender equality (companies that strongly champion these issues) or green energy.

The Ethical Ambitious Plan is suitable for investors focused on making gains as a priority and are willing to see large movements up and down in value to try to achieve high returns.

Investing should be part of a long-term savings strategy, and whilst money can be withdrawn from a Wealthify Plan at any time, investing for less than 5 years is unlikely to be appropriate for an Ethical Ambitious Plan. Investors should be aware that few ethical funds employ currency hedging, which may see divergence in performance between original and ethical plans.

What makes the Ethical Ambitious Plan different?

The example below shows a typical mix of high and low risk investments used in our Ethical Plans. The Ethical Ambitious Plan can hold between 60% and 80% of high risk investments (Shares & Property) with the remainder in low risk investments (Bonds, Cash, Cash Equivalents), but this can vary.

There may be occasions when the Investment Team move an additional 10% higher or lower than the typical range, making the range 50% to 90% of high risk investments.

If the risk allocation is increased, it could lead to more extreme movement up and down, which might lead to higher losses than would usually be associated with this investment style. If they reduce allocations to high-risk investments, it could impede the growth potential more than is normally associated with an Ethical Ambitious level of risk. But this would only be done when considered necessary, according to market conditions.

AMBITIOUS ETHICAL PLAN FACTSHEET

Foreign currency

An Ethical Ambitious Plan could contain up to 75% in overseas investments which are held in a foreign currency.

Typically, the more foreign currency held in a Plan, the greater the risk and potential volatility.

Investment Mix

Benchmarking

Our Ethical Adventurous Plan performance is measured against the ARC Sterling Equity Risk PCI. The PCI is a peer group benchmark which shows how other companies' plans with a similar risk profile have performed. The indices are based on real performance numbers from hundreds of other plans.

Risk of loss

With investing, there's always a chance that investments can go down in value. In a one-year period, there's a 5% chance you may lose more than 16.4% of the value of an Ethical Adventurous Plan. This is not a maximum loss and losses in the future may be greater.

Typical Investments in an Ethical Adventurous Plan

This is an example of the typical investments you might see in an Ethical Adventurous Plan. We use a blend of passive and active funds. Some funds may exclude companies that profit from harmful activities, whilst others may invest in companies provided they earn no more than 10% of their profits from the activity. So we cannot guarantee that our Plans won't contain some degree of the activities we aim to exclude.
